Steve's Report

Halloween
Over the past couple of weeks, as the temperatures have gotten cooler and the trees have begun to change into their brilliant, autumn colors, I have been so caught up in the beauty of the fall landscapes that Halloween had pretty much slipped my mind.

Steve's Report by Steve Sealf

It comes to bug, beetle and other insects. My reaction is pretty much determined by their outward appearance. If it had been a fly or a mosquito, I simply would have been irritated and had a swat at it. If it had been a cockroach, however, I would have gotten about Halloween altogether.

brushing the bugs away as I went, but the closer I got to the house, the thicker the bugs became. By the time I reached the door, there must have been thousands of them swimming around me. There were ladybugs everywhere, flying around me, crawling all over the side of the house and the garage door...

I grabbed a vacuum cleaner and began sucking them up by the hundreds. Every time I thought I had them all, a few more would show up. So I grabbed a roll of masking tape and waded the cracks around the door. That seemed to work. Over the next couple of days, a few more managed to get inside, but nothing that me and my trusty Elnorco could deal with.

Rev. Vernon Adams brought an excellent sermon Sunday morning at Headquarters Methodist in the absence of Pastor Brenda Rout. Brenda was with her mother, Leta Fryman, who had been in the hospital.

The Saltwell United Methodist Church had their annual hyaline Saturday night. We went to meet our new Bishop Lindsay Davis. Four ladies were there from the Harrison. We were among a very large crowd attending the Church of which Rev. Marion Snapp is now the pastor.

Nicholas County residents lose for good Donate 107.5 pounds to Community Action Council

A local Carlisle group joined the fight against two global epidemics - hunger and obesity - by participating in the Lose For Good campaign. As local Weight Watchers members lose weight, they've also been collecting food to donate to the local Community Action Council.
