Harper prepares for national competition

Harper is passionate about music. "Music has always inspired me, either putting me in a better mood, or changing my day completely," Harper said. Harper is a graphic design artist for MC Newspaper Group, and helps create graphic designs in all five of the newspapers owned by the MC Newspaper Group in northeastern Kentucky. "I consider myself an artist, and music has always helped me get past those tough mental blocks and chasing ideas in my mind. I guess you could say I'm a musician and my hobby helps me fight fire with fire," he said. Harper is a member of Carlisle-based group called Carlisle Acoustics. "I've been friends with most of the people on the MECA World Finals in Nashville, TN. It will take place on Oct. 3 and 4 before I got involved with the competing. We compete in the MECA (Mobile Electronics Competition Assoc). It's a league where people show up to see who has the loudest, yet clearest audio sound system. There are specific classes for different set ups. "The set up in my truck is not your average design together. The Carlisle Acoustics team helped me put everything up, from curtains all the way to building the box, mounting it all the floor, and all the testing. I use a 15 inch FI Subwoofer, Sundown Amplifier, & B&B Battery, components of the team for recommending those brands."

Josh Harper, 21, of Carlisle, is shown with his awards and his award-winning, automotive stereo system. Harper will be in Tenn. on Oct. 3 and 4 for national competition.
