Disturbance leads to arrests

By Charles Mattox
News Editor
charles@thecarlislemercury.com

A disturbance last week in downtown Carlisle at a residential apartment house known locally and on court documents as "The Dude Ranch," on North Broadway, Carlisle, led to the arrest of a man who was sought by police earlier this summer on drug-related charges.

David Dryden, 31, who had listed his address as Green Valley Apartments, Carlisle previously, but now has a listed address of Ewing (western Fleming County), was involved in a complaint of disorderly conduct with another man, according to Carlisle Chief of Police William Denton.

Dryden had been under investigation for several months and a warrant had been issued for his arrest following the execution of a search warrant at Green Valley Apartments on May 27, during which 400 'narcotic tablets' were recovered according to his arrest warrant.

Dryden was arrested on Sept. 5 by Carlisle Police Officer Benny Buckler and charged with disorderly conduct, possession of drug paraphernalia and refusal to provide DNA sample.

The second man arrested during the disturbance at The Dude Ranch was Kenneth Bromagen, 31, of Carlisle.

Bromagen was charged with disorderly conduct, menacing and second degree terroristic threatening.

Carlisle Police Officer Mark Snedegar arrested Bromagen on Sept. 5, at the same time that Officer Buckler arrested Dryden.

Dryden was released from Bourbon County Detention Center after posting $2,000 bond. Bromagen remains incarcerated.

Carlisle firefighters respond quickly to extinguish blazes

By Charles Mattox
News Editor
charles@thecarlislemercury.com

Members of the Carlisle Fire Department extinguished two fires during the later part of last week, one of which could have been tragic had it not been for the quick response from firefighters.

Firefighters responded to a Wednesday evening blaze in a trashcan at Vanlandingham Park at one of the shelter houses, and Thursday late afternoon extinguished a grease fire from an apartment at Green Valley Apartments.

The Green Valley Apartment blaze was the result of a grease fire in a kitchen, in apartment 13, building 3, according to emergency response personnel. The fire was spreading when firefighters arrived at approximately 6:28 p.m..

"We had a real good, quick response from our firefighters," Jefferson said. "That really helped us."

Jefferson cautions all residents on the proper procedure to battle a grease fire.

The natural instinct is use water, however with a grease fire that will only spread the fire. The proper method of extinguishing a grease fire, according to Jefferson, is to put flour or sugar directly in the flames.

This will smother the flames.

"You can even use a towel to smother the fire if you have too," Jefferson said.

The grease fire was contained with minimal smoke damage occurring in the apartment.

Dry conditions aided in accelerating an accidental fire in a trash can at Vanlandingham Park during a birthday celebration at the park.

"The can was bolted to a post at the shelter house so it could have been bad," Carlisle Fire Chief Jeff Jefferson said. "But I believe it was a purely accidental fire."

Chief Jefferson praised his fellow firefighters for their quick response in extinguishing the fire. Ten dedicated city firefighters responded to both blazes under the leadership of Jefferson.

Members of the Nicholas County Fire Department have extinguished grass fires in recent weeks out in the county as conditions continue to grow drier.

Nicholas firefighters also provided firefighting Bourbon County for over watch while their neighboring firefighters were busy tending to the personal needs of one of their firefighter families.

Heaven Is A Lot Like Kentucky

BACK WITH DANIEL BOONE

Heaven Is A Lot Like Kentucky
By Charles Mattox

Late September 1780, near present-day Lexington KY

The cool September evening reminded him that winter was close at hand, and Daniel Boone knew he wasn't going to put his family through another winter like they had endured last year.

It was good that autumn was coming, as he felt he was in the autumn of his life. He would be enjoying his 46th birthday on Oct. 22, 1780, less than a month away.

Few men along the Kentucky frontier ever reached such advanced years.

Boone's life had calmed considerably from the seemingly never-ending, tumultuous events that had plagued him with one disaster after another since he'd first attempted to settle this 'Dark and Bloody Ground.'

He was finally enjoying time with his seven children, though he always lamented the death of his oldest son James, who died on Oct. 10, 1773 on Walden Ridge, in the Cumberland Gap. James and others had been killed at the hand of Shawnee warriors.

His youngest son (at that time) William Boone had died in July 1775 after being only one month old. It was the same year his oldest daughter Susannah had married William Hays.

He thought he would lose his daughter Jemima, the summer following, in 1776, when she and two of Colonel Calloway's daughters had been kidnapped out of their boat on the Kentucky River by Shawnee and Cherokee warriors.

Repatriating the three terrified girls had been quite an adventure.

The next year marked the "year of the bloody sevens", 1777 and he was almost killed during an attack on Fort Boonesboro, when a Shawnee musket ball crushed his ankle bone. His new friend Simon Butler (Kenton) saved his life that April day, carrying him into the fort as the attack began.

Less than a year later marked a dark time in his life during his captivity, again by his nemesis Shawnee. Also captured were 28 men under his command at the Lower Blue Licks in January of 1778.

The men, who were making salt for the Kentucky settlements, were divided among the Shawnee and other tribes, with some being sold to the British at Detroit and others, like Boone, being adopted.

He escaped in June and returned to his home only to find his wife and children gone back to her father's home in the Carolinas.

Only his daughter Jemima, her love Flanders Calloway, and the old family cat were there to greet him. There was little time to wallow in sadness however as he knew the fort would soon be under attack. The attack came within weeks and developed into a prolonged (and subsequently quite famous) siege.

The Kentuckians under Boone were victorious, but that did not stop a court martial proceeding against Boone from being held in Harrodsburg.

Boone faced several serious charges regarding his surrender of the salt makers.

Boone was acquitted and promoted to Lt. Colonel of the militia, but several of the inhabitants blamed him for the continued absence of their family members who had been captured with the salt makers at Blue Licks.

Boone went to the Carolinas and returned to Kentucky in Dec. 1779, bringing several of his extended family members with him, as well as new families, including the Lincolns (future president Abraham's family) and the Scholls.

Among his own family members that made the trek from the Carolinas, through the Cumberland Gap and to Fort Boonesboro, coming back with Daniel Boone was his brother Edward. Edward, or Neddy as Daniel called him, had married his wife's sister, Martha Bryan.

Neddy and Martha had six children: Charity, Jane, Mary, George, Joseph and Sarah.

The group began constructing Boone's Station upon arrival in Kentucky, facing the harshest winter in memory with minimal protection from the elements in their half-face camps.

They began the process just before Christmas not wanting to stay in Fort Boonesboro where Daniel Boone continued to receive threatening remarks and stares from those who thought him loyal to the British and those of his extended family who now called Boone's Station their home. He would be taking Neddy with him.

Neither of them knew it at the time, but they would soon be involved in another battle with the Shawnee, one which claim the life of Neddy Boone.

Giving a Helping Hand

By: Mark Harper

No matter what kind of life someone lives, they always can use a helping hand, and giving someone some help can make you feel like a better person.

People always experience times of need, ranging from physical help, to emotion and mental help as well.

I have always found that the best help will come from parents, significant other, siblings and friends. They always seem to know what helps you out in life. They know what makes you happy and sad. And a friend or family member who says or does things to make you feel more negative about yourself, well you should not listen to those people at all.

I believe you should always live your life to the fullest, and do things that make you happy. If you are doing something that you are unsure about or you're worried about the outcome, then you should probably rethink what you're getting ready to do.

Helping people can prove to be a great thing. Not only does it make you a better person, it also establishes trust and respect to the person you've helped.

Sometimes even seeing someone else helping out another person can make you feel good about it and even make you want to help out more.

Being able to see the smile on people's faces after you help lets you know that everything was worth it.

There are some people out there that don't want help. Some don't want help because they are self-reliant, but others are selfish people who think only they can do good and that no other person can compare with them and aren't willing to help many people. Some of these people I call "ego-maniacal."

And some of the people who think this way are the people that later on in life, when they really do need help, nobody is going to want to help them because of their past. And they would have to prove themselves and show a lot of respect and goodness to others to get the help they need when they finally do need it, because like I said in the beginning. Everybody eventually needs help.

I believe that I am a helping person. If someone needs help and shows me respect, and the help they need is not too much and is not illegal then I usually have no worries about helping.

So next time that you are walking about and you see somebody drop something or need help picking something up, don't hesitate to help them out. But if you try to help and they refuse, then just walk away they obviously don't appreciate anyone's help.

The Honorable Larry Tincher, Nicholas County Judge/Executive
The Honorable Doug Fryman, Nicholas County Clerk
Members of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the County Clerk of Nicholas County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2009. This financial statement is the responsibility of the County Clerk. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As described in Note 1, the County Clerk's office prepares the financial statement on a regulatory basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the laws of Kentucky, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Clerk for the year ended December 31, 2009, in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1.

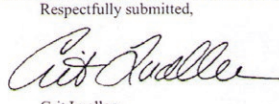

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated July 16, 2010 on our consideration of the Nicholas County Clerk's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

Based on the results of our audit, we have presented the accompanying comment and recommendation, included herein, which discusses the following report comment:

- The County Clerk Is Due Salary Of $11,433 For Calendar Year 2009

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the County Clerk and Fiscal Court of Nicholas County, Kentucky, and the Commonwealth of Kentucky and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Respectfully submitted,

Q: How do I know if I have a Sleep Disorder?

A: Are you always feeling tired during the day? Do you have trouble falling asleep at night? Do you snore loudly when you sleep or wake up frequently during the night? If you answered "Yes" to any of these questions, you may be suffering from a sleep disorder and need to seek medical advice.

Sleep is not a luxury. It is essential to your health and vitality. Most people need between seven and nine hours of restful sleep each night. There's more to not getting enough sleep than just feeling drowsy. The lack of restful sleep can lead to a number of medical conditions, including diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure, stroke, obesity and even depression.

The best way to determine if you have a sleeping disorder is to have a sleep study, also called a polysomnogram. A sleep study is usually performed in a special home-like sleep lab that helps promote a good night's rest. The study electronically records specific physical activities during your different stages of sleep.

Conditions or symptoms often associated with sleep disorders:

- Excessive daytime sleepiness and fatigue
- Snoring (not always present)
- Unexplained weight gain
- HPB- Particularly if more than one medicine is needed
- Fluid retention
- Memory impairment
- History of a stroke or heart disease with recurring problems
- Palpitations or irregular heart beat
- Elevated blood sugars
- Regularly require narcotics for pain

If you have any of these symptoms, ask your physician if a sleep evaluation is appropriate for you. If so, ask your physician to refer you to an accredited Sleep Lab with certified technologists.

The Crazy Horse Lady

I cannot believe that we are already in the middle of September already. Where does all the time go? What did I do with all my time? Did I actually accomplish what I had set out to do this year? When you actually slow down long enough to sit down, it is pretty scary how one day more or less runs into the next day.

As many of you know by reading my weekly article, I have had the opportunity to slow down just a little bit because of an injury to my horse, Dia, whom I have diligently been working with this year after her being put under saddle last December. Of course, if I had been semi-actively working the horses that I already own and horse keep for, I wouldn't have had the time to ponder on what my year consisted of as far as accomplishments, disappointments, and where my priorities laid. I guess what I am trying to say is that I wouldn't have taken the time to appreciate all the experiences I've already had this year and the opportunity to re-ignite my relationship with my other horses while adjusting the road I am traveling down just a little. In fact, it is a little funny how life works sometimes so that we suddenly are forced to snap out of it and realize that it is time to remember that we need to once again let God show us where we should be going and what we should be doing, instead of us trying to handle it on our own. It is lessons like these that help mold and change our lives forever.

This is how working with your horses to create lifetime partners seems at times. Everybody at one time or another gets so impatient about hitting the trails, the show ring, rodeo, maybe even joining a circus, whatever it is that we are all trying to accomplish with our horses, that we forget to take the time to reflect, teach and work the basics. We don't appreciate where we are right now. There are some people who are lucky, and skipping the basics has worked for them, but their day is coming. Their day is coming when something out on the trail, at a show, rodeo or wherever they are with their equine friend, that they will be forced to come to the cruel realization that they are not respected and thought of as a "leader" by their horse. Let me stress at this point that being a "leader" to your horse is a lot different than scaring, intimidating your horse or having to FORCE your horse to do the things you are asking. As a leader, your horse looks up to you for guidance to show and tell them what you want. In other words, they truly respect you and want you to make the decisions. They actually learn to trust you. Don't get me wrong, this doesn't mean that they won't test you periodically. Remember they are horses, a prey animal, and they are constantly learning while watching and interacting with you every move and step you make.

It has taken me A LOT of time, money, hard work and hard knocks, to truly understand that my horses want me to be their leader. They don't want to have to make all the decisions. They appreciate my teaching them what I want and expect from them. My biggest realization has been that I do not want to just be a passenger, I want to be in control and considered by my horses the "alpha leader"!

It has also taken me lots of time to kind of understand how a horse thinks because they DO NOT think like us nor do they share the emotions that we humans have for them. I believe the best way to start to understand and make sense of it all is by actually taking the time by sitting down and watching your horses or someone's horses interact with each other. This was extremely hard for a person like me because there is so much that I want to do, feel the need to do, have to do, that I feel like I'm wasting my time by just sitting. I have read this time and time again in different books and yet I still blew it off. Talk about keeping an open mind! Come on, who really has the time to just sit and watch their horses? I don't know about you, but I've got stalls to muck, buckets to wash and fill, grain to be bought, hay to be thrown down and put up, and the list goes on, not including what my family thinks I should be doing for them. Whew!

Well I am happy to say – I made the time and what a truly amazing eye opening experience it has been for me. I literally grabbed my step stool out of the barn, found a place that was sort of shady and took the time to observe their pecking order (which I already had a pretty good idea of but it was interesting just how far these animals relied upon this order), them eating, playing, and particularly the way they got their points across – ears pinned back and teeth showing at times. A few bucks or "wannabe" bucks here and there. The mutual grooming that went on between them and how one would watch as the others dozed. It was truly educational and worth taking the time to observe the interaction that went on between my horses. To have me try to explain what I felt and observe does not do justice what the whole experience offered in return to me. You really need to take the time to do your own observations on your own horses for yourself. You will reap many rewards by doing this.

To be able to finally make some sense of why my horses were having the reactions that they were and to recognize that they had the ability to teach me by just observing them is downright amazing! It showed me the little things that I was doing wrong and why I wasn't receiving what I was anxiously so waiting for. Patience...if you would just allow yourself the time to take this all in for yourself instead of having me tell you about or you read about it, you would be amazed at what you personally witness and the feelings that are awakened by allowing yourself this experience. I'm sure that a lot of you are probably thinking this girl has really fallen out of her rocker. I will be very honest that this is not for the once a month or once a year pull your horse out of the pasture and ride relationship. I guess, I probably would seem nuts to some of you but I'm really trying to relate to the person that every available minute that they get, they are with their horses, doing something, training, games, desensitizing, riding, or whatever it is that you enjoy to do. This is the person that cares that their horse looks to them for leadership and direction, in addition to their horses choosing to be spending time with their owner. This is for the person who truly wants to enjoy and have the best possible relationship that can exist with their horse.

So...While reflecting on how your year is wrapping up, spend some time observing and listening to your horses, it definitely will be an eye opening and soul awakening experience.

Until next week –God Bless You, Your Family and YOUR EQUINE FRIENDS and I pray you all have a safe, blessed, horse-filled week!

Thought for the Week: I believe that this is worth repeating! "Learn the art of patience. Apply discipline to your thoughts when they become anxious over the outcome of a goal. Impatience breeds anxiety, fear, discouragement and failure. Patience creates confidence, decisiveness, and a rational outlook, which eventually leads to success. – Brian Adams"

The Apology of Socrates and the Definition of Wisdom

By Chad Ockerman

Upon rereading Plato's Apology of Socrates I felt like I had learned something that I never noticed before in previous readings. In order to explain my findings I feel that I need to provide adequate background knowledge to the story itself. In the Apology, the ancient Greek philosopher (often considered the "father of philosophy") Socrates has been put on trial for the corruption of the youth and the refusal to believe in the various gods of Athens at the time.

At the beginning of The Apology (after the acknowledgement of his charges) Socrates opens with his defense speech, which is possibly the most notable and often times the most confusing part of the dialogue. Throughout Socrates' speech he touches three separate points, the first being defense against accusations of the past, the second being the defense against the recent charges, and lastly a digression on his way of life. Within this argument (which seems to be extremely weak considering that his life is likely to be at stake) Socrates discusses many extremely important aspects of his life and teachings, possibly the most important is what I will be sharing with you today.

Within part of Plato's defense speech he discusses a story in which he consults the Oracle at Delphi regarding wisdom. After conferring with the Oracle, Socrates is told that there is no person wiser than himself. Upon hearing this generalization, Socrates feels that this is a generalization with such an impossibility that he must investigate it in order to find evidence to the contrary. Socrates, hoping to find someone that was wiser than him, attempts to investigate politicians, poets, and craftsmen. After careful questioning and interviewing of members of each profession, Socrates comes to find out that no one is as wise as himself and that each party has faults which causes them to not be considered wise.

When Socrates comes to this conclusion, he thinks to himself that although he was unable to find someone wiser than this still could not be true – that he could not be the wisest individual in Greece (or the world for that matter).

With this realization Socrates learns to define wisdom as "the knowledge of your own ignorance" (which is the point of my article). At this point Socrates understands that he has to be somewhat wise because he manages to acknowledge his ignorance.

Throughout the years, many people have attempted to define wisdom and I feel that Socrates gives the best interpretation. This definition brings up very deep questions, for instance, do I not acknowledge the reality of my own ignorance? And if not, am I no longer considered wise? Do we cover up our ignorance with false knowledge to where we no longer think we are ignorant? All these are very important questions. We should spend our lives trying to learn more and more about what we are ignorant of. We, as human beings, will live our lives in infinite ignorance to where we can never become completely knowledgeable, and so we learn to limit our ignorance.

Of the great teachings of Socrates, I've always felt this to be one of the most important and applicable to our everyday lives. Shortly after this defense was given (that he had knowledge of his ignorance, thus his wisdom), he was sentenced to his death. Much like many intellectuals of today would be, if those who are not conscious of their ignorance were in charge.

Thoughts from the Pastor Study

We have just celebrated Labor Day this past Monday. The first Labor Day in the United States was celebrated on September 5, 1882 in New York City. It was first suggested by Peter J. McQuire, the dynamic president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. It was a tribute to honor those who were the vital force in industrializing our nation. Traditionally it has been a day of parades and speeches, picnics and recreation. It marks the end of summer and the beginning of school (although school start dates have changed in recent years). Labor Day is a strange holiday in that while we talk about labor most of us try to do as little work as possible on that day.

In recent months there has been a great deal of discussion and apprehension about work and the economy. While many are struggling we need to remind ourselves that even the poorest among Americans are better off than over 90% of the people in the world. This came about because of the blessings of God and a work ethic based on Christian principles; something we often call the Christian work ethic.

God intended for man to work. Genesis 2:15 says, "The Lord took the man and put him in the Garden of Eden to work it and care for it." (NIV)

Work was not the curse put on man for sinning. For that act God cursed the soil (Genesis 3:17). The toiling became harder for the man but the concept of work originated before the fall. God who never sinned, who is infinitely wise and infinitely strong, worked. The Sabbath commanded in Exodus is based on God resting from His labor on the seventh day. We usually get the message that God forbid working on the Sabbath day but we miss another important part. "Remember the Sabbath day by keeping it holy. Six days you shall do all your work, but the seventh day is a Sabbath to your Lord." (Exodus 20:8-9a) Even as God was commanding rest His plan was for us to work the other six days. Jesus Christ during His time on Earth worked. He labored in the carpenter shop with Joseph. He gave labor a new dignity.

As we work God expects to do our very best. Colossians 3:23 states, "Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord and not for man." We have all been in situations where we didn't like the job we were doing or the persons we were working for. As Christians we need to overcome these situations by doing our best to bring glory and honor to God. This attitude may be the best witness we will ever be able to have for Him. God has promised that He will reward those who faithfully serve Him. (Ephesians 6:7-8) We serve Him by doing our best to do our work well.

Work is a means by which we can love our neighbors as ourselves. In Ephesians 4:28 Paul instructs the believers to work with their hands so that they will have something to share with those in need. As God blesses, we are to do all we can to provide for our needs and the needs of those around us. II Thessalonians 3:10 states, "For even when we were with you, we gave you this rule: If a man will not work he shall not eat." There are two important principles in this verse. Able bodied people who can work, should work, both to provide for themselves and for others. This verse also should remind us that there are people who cannot work and those people need to be taken care of by Christians who are commanded to love their neighbors. We are to help those who are willing to work to help themselves. We are to help those who cannot work as an expression of God's love.

God works, Christ worked and we are expected to work if we can. We work because it is part of God's plan and to bring glory to Him. "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven." Matthew 5:16 (NIV)

Autumn Martin and Allison Howard each added 4 points with Hannah Jolly, Shelby Watkins and Mary Kate Tolliver chipping in for 2 a piece. The Lady Jackets lost during the 8th grade game 42 to 7. Kaela Saner scored 3 points, Shelby Watkins and Jessica Hudson each added 2. Coach Flowers said, "The 7th grade team looks to have a very promising season if they continue to improve and play together. We may have lost the 8th grade game but I'm proud of my young team. Having only one true eighth grade player I am forced to play the younger girls. During our 8th grade games their competing against more experience and strength this will force them to become more aggressive and use the fundamentals we practice." The NCMS Lady Jackets will play at home for the next two weeks. You can catch them in action on the 14th against Bracken Co. and the 21st against Deming. Tip off is at 6:00 and Coach Flowers and his assistant Sara Kiskaden invite everyone to come show support for the team.

Nicholas Co. High School Volleyball

By Kyle Campbell

Volleyball season is underway and the Nicholas County High School Girl's Volleyball Team members are making statements. Led by Coach Cornett, the girls have three wins and five losses. "The season is going great!" Coach Cornett said. "Our girls have really put in extra work that is going to take to compete this year in Bluegrass Conference and District. The Bluegrass Conference will be played at KSD September 30th against Berea." Even though the team is on 3-5, their record doesn't conclude their play on the court. Cornett said, "In my opinion we should be the team to beat," she said. "If we play as well as we have been we will come home with first place. It will all depend on consistency of serving and passing the ball to our setter Whitney Morris to set out our outside hitters, Lotta, Mandi, Robyn and Laken." Coach Cornett praised the senior volleyball players for excellent play and leadership on and off the court.

"A lot of our success is coming from our senior leaders," She said. Coach Cornett would like to thank everyone for supporting the girl's volleyball team.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor,
This letter goes out to the patients, hospital employees, pharmacists, other doctors, etc. with whom I have become acquainted as receptionist at the Carlisle Medical Clinic. As I am no longer employed there, I would like to say that it has been my pleasure to assist the patients, the various hospital departments, and the other doctors in any way I could. My departure was unexpected and I was not given the opportunity to say "Good-bye" to those of you that have become so dear to me. I hope that over the time I was able to serve you, that I did so in professional manner. I will always have fond memories of those of you that have made an impact in my life. I hope that many of you feel the same way about me. Hopefully, there will be a time in the future when I will have the opportunity to serve to community again.

Sincerely, Robin Howard

Elect Adam Tubbs

Nicholas County School Board
4th District

I am 25 years old and I have been involved in EMS for going on five years. I am very dedicated to my career and helping others. I enjoy being active in my community, as well as spending time with my family and friends. To me nothing else is more important. We should not take our family for granted but cherish every moment we have with them.

I am active in our county 4-H, serving two years ago as the Healthcare Provider at North Central 4-H Camp, and returning after that as an adult counselor with Nicholas County. I am also chairing the 4-H float committee for the Christmas parade this year. Along with 4-H, I am also active in our youth soccer league, attempting to raise funds to provide bleachers, new goals, and a scoreboard for the children playing soccer.

I am running for school board because I believe that we live in a great county, with great kids, and we deserve great schools!

We as adults have to provide the opportunity for excellence that children deserve to better themselves for our future. As your next school board member I will strive to put our families and the children of this county first, always putting politics aside. Because when it comes to education, there is no room to play politics.

Vote Tubbs - School Board - November 2nd

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Christian Massey

Being a successful student is more than just getting A's. It includes the work ethic, effort and determination you put forth to change and unsuccessful start into a successful ending. Christian Massey's first two weeks did not give up as other students lacking this strength may do. Through his hard work and dedication he has turned a shaky start into a successful game plan for his freshman year, high school career and future endeavors. I admire that trait in a person - "Someone who does not accept failure".

Keep up the good work Christian!
--Mr. Chamness

Kimber Letcher

Kimber Letcher has blossomed into a mature young adult over the past couple of years. Her improvement can be seen both socially and especially academically. I enjoy having Kimber in class as she is always respectful and courteous to both her peers and teachers. I believe Kimber will experience much success following high school because of these traits.

--Mrs. Lane

Good Job Students!

Robyn Bartlett

I am nominating Robynn Bartlett for Student Spotlight. Robynn has been in band for while now and I have watched her grow from a shy, "I don't know if I can do this" clarinet player into an "I'm gonna do this and do it well" all around musician. She plays clarinet for the band during pep band and concert band season and is currently pit section leader! She not only excels as an instrumentalist, but she is an excellence student and has turned out to be a very strong and positive leader for me. I'm very proud to spotlight Miss Robynn Bartlett. She deserves this honor!!! Have a great senior year, Robynn!!!

--Ms. Hale

Shawn Evans

This week for Student Spotlight I would love to nominate Shawn Evans. Shawn is a 7th grade student and is the perfect example of what Student Spotlight is all about! Shawn is always on time for class and ready to work. He is prepared with the proper materials and always has his homework. Shawn is very polite and respectful to teachers and other students. It is an absolute privilege to have Shawn as a student!

--Mrs. Cobb

Fondest Memories

By Melissa Mitchell

Within the next couple of weeks, there will be some wonderful autumn events taking place, such as Saturday in Carlisle and Mt. Sterling Court days.

Darvin and I used to set up at Saturday in Carlisle a couple of years ago with our woodworking business. We would bring in swings, wishing wells, holiday decorations, flower baskets and much more.

We were overwhelmed the first year

we attended.

We did not expect the turn out we received. I believe that this was the start up of Saturday in Carlisle. People came from everywhere, it was great. That was a day of a much fun filled experience, plus this was a start to a great business.

This event is something that continues even today.

Court days in Mt. Sterling is one that we attended as spectators. We would get up early on Sunday morning, go to Jerry's Restaurant for breakfast then stroll on down to downtown Mt. Sterling and spend hours walking through the crowd looking for great bargains.

Both of these events are great to attend. The food is delicious; they have great funnel cakes, apple dumpings, burgers, and much more. Great bargains for all of the needs and wants for everyone from crafts, dishes, and jewelry and baskets and flower arrangements.

Saturday in Carlisle and Mt. Sterling

Court Days festivities are something that our family really enjoy going to.

The events are a time to come out and enjoy some fun, find great deals, and great food before the weather turns to cold. Kids come out and enjoy the events that the organizers arrange for them such as kiddie tractor pulls, dog races, cake walks and rock climbing. Adults even enjoy some of these events by watching the kids. Probably one of the biggest events is the Corn Hole tournament. This draws a pretty good crowd.

The Saturday in Carlisle will begin on Sept 25 at 8:00 a.m with a great deal of festivities throughout the day. Come out and enjoy.

Future Farmers of America

Nicholas County High School FFA members done their annual monthly trash pick up last Tuesday afternoon. Several FFA members and FFA advisor Matt Weade spent a few hours picking up trash on a mile stretch of Barterville Road. Mr.

Weade says the Nicholas County FFA chapter gets money donated to them from Paul Muholem a local Nicholas County man and a big contributor to the Nicholas County chapter as well as the National FFA chapter. Mr. Weade says this is his fourth year of working at Nicholas County High School and all of those years Mr. Muholem has donated the money, Weade says "we greatly appreciate his help and donations over the past years."

Nicholas County

FFA has also had many other recent activates going on and some coming up. Three FFA members Caleb Sadler, Lucas Myers, and Jason Simpson recently competed in the Kentucky State fair livestock judging, and received fourth place. "The competition was between 40-50 teams in the state. It is a big deal to us, general livestock judging contest is the biggest in the state." Says FFA advisor Matt Weade.

Bread of Life

You have a choice between life and death. So choose life. Romans 8:6 for to be carnally minded is life and peace. You see choosing death doesn't mean jumping from the nearest cliff. It's much more subtle than that. The Bible says death is being carnally minded, being entangled in this present worldly realm. The Bible also tells us what life is. Proverbs 4:20 My Son, attend to my words: incline thine ear unto my sayings 21 let them not depart from thine eyes. Keep them in the midst of thine heart. For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh.

In Luke 10 we see two sisters, one troubled about many things of the world one choosing life by choosing the word of God. Romans 8:5 for they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. 6 For to be carnally minded is death: But to be spiritually minded is life and peace. 14 for as many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God. John 6:63 It is the Spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life. Choose life Choose Jesus the living word. Jesus is alive and well and coming soon.

Wilson 1960-1971, Mrs. Judy Hogge 1971, and Mrs. Thelma Hovermale 1971.

The first public school of Moorefield was conducted in a two-story frame building constructed in 1868 across from the Moorefield Christian Church.

In 1910 a new frame structure replaced near the old building near Moorefield Methodist Church.

The Moorefield School was destroyed in 1948 by fire but was rebuilt, and now serves as Clark Funeral Home. The school building ceased to serve the people of the community as a school and was closed with students consolidated with the Nicholas County Schools in Nicholas County Elementary in 1971.

Several of those who made the journey to a place where they used to call home were reminiscing about the laughs that they had while going to school.

One of the memories that were being cherished was by Elva D. Clark about when Kenny Lyons would be at the water fountain getting a drink Clark would go by and push his head down, causing Kenny to break his teeth out. Vickie Gerkin who had moved to Anchorage, Alaska returned to Moorefield and Nicholas County to attend the reunion. She was in visiting with folks and wanted to drop by and see some school friends that she hadn't been able to speak with for awhile.

Many of the attendees brought old school pictures and some class pictures to share with the others and to see if everyone remembered all of them.

"I was very pleased with the turnout. There was a great deal of hard work that went into planning this event but once you saw the people it was well worth it."

Said Kenny Lyons. "I want to thank you to all of the ones that helped make this event possible, Verndaline Lyons, Martha Sibert and Nevada McGlothlin." Lyons stated.

As the day ended friendships had been renewed and strengthened. Pledges were made to visit at least a little more often and new memories had been forged of the bygone era and school house fondly remembered as Moorefield School.

Some facts were compiled from NC History book and Old Mercury.

Nicholas County Sheriff Dick Garrett attended the football game Friday night and provided his special talent with his mobile fish-frying unit. Sheriff Garrett prepared Alaskan Pollack fillets as part of a fundraising event at the game for Garrett Young, 19, a 2009 graduate of Nicholas County High School and a resident of Robertson County. Young was seriously injured in July of this year when a 2006 Harley Davidson motorcycle he was operating, collided with the rear end of a 2006 Dodge van on US 62, near Claysville. Young was at the game Friday and was surrounded by lots of family and friends who expressed their deep appreciation to all who have supported and prayed for a complete recovery for Garrett. Garrett is healing quickly and continues to progress with physical therapy at Cardinal Hill Rehabilitation Center.

Nicholas County High School Marching Band

The Nicholas County High School Marching Band is back to hitting it hard again this year. Band director Debbie Hale says, "this year's band we are well prepared, the shows are going to be great. We are going to be able to fit all three songs into the show compared to previous years when we were only able to perform two songs."

The band's theme name this year is "The Fourth Necessity" it is based on the basic needs in life food, water, and shelter. Then the fourth necessity music, JT Fryman, Jacob Fryman, and Max Scalf each have solos in this year's performance. There are twenty-two marching band members this year. Three returning seniors: Robyn Bartlett, JT Fryman, and Morgan Louge, who is serving as field commander.

Hale took time to thank her staff for their hard work and dedication over the past few months. Assistant director April Hawkins, Color Guard Jeremy Owens, percussion instruments Josh Williams, and brass instruments Mike Bond. She also thanked the staff and administration at Nicholas County High School. "I also want to give a big thanks to all of the band member's parents who have helped us out. We wouldn't be where we are without them."

Ms. Hale couldn't help but to talk about the beginner's band. It is made up of sixth grade students from the elementary school. She currently has twenty-one members that come to the high school during the day as one of the classes she teaches, where they learn the basics of music, instruments and being a part of a band. She says they are showing her "a great deal of talent."

Hale explained. "They really have started to grow over the past few months, they will do awesome as they grow more in the next few years to come." she said.

"This year is going to be a great year, we may be small but we have a great and unique sound." Morgan Louge, this year's field commander said.

Louge went on talking about this year, her last year as a senior.

"This is my second year as field commander, and my last year, it is sad but I am going to make it worth it. It has taught me a lot of things and I am happy I have gotten this amazing chance and opportunity again."

This past Saturday the high school marching band performed at a competition in Beachwood, Kentucky. After the band's first afternoon performance where they scored a 70.83 making them in 5th place overall with 4A and 5A bands, which allowed them to come in second place in their class. In the band's second performance of the evening they received the "Best Guard" award as well as receiving 4th place overall in Saturday's competition.

"For this to be our first competition with an unfinished show we did amazing and were going to keep improving is the best part," said Morgan Louge.

This year's marching band members are Morgan Louge, Hannah Boykin, Ryder Bray, Lindsey Hall, Madison

Blake, Katelyn Hollar, JT Fryman, Max Scalf, Jacob Fryman, Ryan Cobb, Caleb Lewis, Ross Haney, Tiamara Lafayette, Robynn Bartlett, Eric Spivey, Dakota Hunt, Hunter Mitchell, Josie Stamper, Haley Blankenship, Stephanie Gubser, Kelessa Blankenship, and Lance Bashaw.

Jackets Roll Over Berea in District Game

By Chad Ockerman

The Bluejackets opened up their district play Friday against Berea with a big win, rolling the Pirates 55-12. With the win, the Jackets would advance to an impressive 3-1 start. During the first half, the Jackets slowly pulled away, scoring first and never trailing throughout the entirety of the game. When asked about the Jackets performance Coach Hopkins stated that "everybody showed up, it wasn't a one man show like some of the previous games. It showed the diversity of our offense and that we have multiple threats for the other team to worry about."

Early in the game Caleb Pope would score on a 1 yard run after an impressive drive by the Jackets of defense giving Nicholas a 6-0 lead in the first quarter. During the second quarter the Jackets would see touchdowns from Wes Hopkins and Jessie Smith. Hopkins would score on a 3 yard push to the endzone and Smith proceeded in a score off a 13 yard pass from freshmen quarterback Charby Pope. Shortly before the half the Pirates managed to score which cited Coach Hop's only complaint with the Bluejacket performance. After the disappointing touchdown by Berea, the Jackets led 20-6 going into halftime.

Coming out of half-time Hopkins went on to score his second touchdown for the Jackets off a one yard run. During the second half it would be easy to say that the Jackets dominated, showing the majority of the offensive diversity previously mentioned. The Bluejackets would go on to score 5 touchdowns in the second half exhibiting their offensive superiority over Berea. Zach Howard caught a 22 yard pass from QB Austin Allison. Smith would also score again, displaying the duality of his athletic ability with a 54 yard rush in contrast to his earlier passing touchdown. Pope went on to have yet another exciting rush, breaking free from the Pirate defense for a 47 yard run. Finn Brutsman would be the last Jacket to reach the endzone off a 30 yard run.

Caleb Pope led the team with 16 carries for 147 yards and 2 touchdowns followed by Jessie Smith who had 6 rushes for 89 yards with 1 touchdown. When asked to comment on the Bluejacket's performance and in regards to next week Coach Hop said, "We still have a long way to go. Last week was a disappointing loss to West Carter and I'm glad the Berea game helped us bounce back. Our team has a lot of improving to do. Berea had some key players out due to injury and I just hope it prepared us for next week." While talking to Coach Hopkins regarding the team, there has always been a common theme of never being satisfied and always looking towards next week. I believe it is this mentality that will take our Nicholas County Bluejackets far for the rest of the season.

Next week (September 24) the Jackets will host Raceland (ranked #6 in class A) in another vital district match-up. Kickoff is set for 7:30 PM and homecoming festivities will take place during halftime.

Carlisle Rotary Club to Present - Annual Fall Festival

Saturday in Carlisle plans have come together for this fall, and the annual festival-right in the center of The Little Town with the Big Heart- will take place this year on September 25.

The Carlisle Rotary Club and Whitaker Bank of Carlisle are sponsoring another full day of fun and activities along Main Street and in and around the Nicholas County Courthouse yard for the entire family, young and old.

More than 35 vendor booths will be open throughout the day, with the works of multiple artists and crafters, freshly cooked funnel cakes and many other food items, and a large variety of products and information available to the public.

Visitors also may enjoy taking a look at the windows of many businesses in Carlisle. They will be featuring displays of older and antique items, plus other things that offer a glance back into life in earlier days of the town.

And don't forget to bring a lawn chair if you love listening to gospel music, because there will be a total of six singing groups entertaining in the courthouse yard during the day.

The Rotarians, with the cooperation of the city and county governments and many other community volunteers, work throughout the year to make the final Saturday in September a special day to remember each and every year. Saturday in Carlisle will begin with the opening of the Farmers Market at 8:00 a.m. along the back of the courthouse yard, and a wide variety of activities will continue along the streets all around the courthouse throughout the day.

This year's visitors will have the opportunity to visit a large Farm Machinery Show, and also to take a close look at the Car and Motorcycle Cruise-In, which will be located along Locust Street.

Whitaker Bank will be sponsoring a Football Throw event, and the day's activities also will include a Baseball Speed Throw. There also will be a special Children's Jumping Blow Up for smaller boys and girls.

The days variety of activities also include such things as: a dog show and a weiner dog (Dachshund) race, a children's bike decorating contest, a children's cake walk and multiple additional cake walks throughout the day- plus an afternoon cornhole tournament in the courthouse yard with $350 in prizes.

The Courthouse Square Arts Guild will have Members Art Show on display throughout the day, with awards to be presented at 1:30.

Four groups of youth from the Town and Village School of Dance will entertain at 12:00 with a display of their musical talents, near the Rotary booth on Main Street. Members of TKs Gymnastics also will offer a display their special talents.

Children's Street Art will offer boys and girls of all ages an opportunity to display their drawing talents on and along Main Street at noon, and younger attendees also will have the change to participate in the Kids Tractor Pull at 10:00 in the morning.

In addition to all of the fun and entertainment listed above, activities through the day will include a petting zoo, a visit to the Kentucky Heritage Mobile Unit, and an entertaining variety of musical entertainment to enjoy throughout the day. There will be a Baby Show 0-36 months, $2.00 entry fee. For more details contact Mary Susan or Carolyn Dotson 859-289-7718.

The members of the Carlisle Rotary Club invite and encourage both young and old, and folks of all ages to come and join in this year special day for a bigger and better Saturday in Carlisle.

(Additional information about available booth space or about the days activities may be obtained by calling 859-289-7718 or (after 6:00) 859-289-7120.)

Kentucky Doll and Toy Museum

By Chad Ockerman

On October 20, 2007 the Kentucky Doll and Toy Museum was opened to the public here in Nicholas County. As most citizens are aware of, the museum is located on West Main Street beside EZ Riders Pizza and the Neal Building and has served as several different businesses throughout the years including a tax office, restaurant, and a "confectionary" owned by the Galbraith family. The Kentucky Doll and Toy Museum holds many special artifacts that are very unique to our county.

The creation of the museum mostly stemmed from when Dr. Phillip and Trudy Tibbs purchased the building in hopes of making it some form of historic significance to our town. The Tibbs', owners of Forest Retreat, were frequent customers at the Café on Main owned and managed by Jan Taylor. Taylor was the owner of an illustrious doll collection; being long time friends with the Tibbs', Dr. Tibbs proposed that they create a doll museum with the newly purchased building. After preparation and vast renovations of the building, Dr. Tibbs began purchasing display cases in order to lay the foundations of the museum. Originally the collection consisted of just Mrs. Taylor's dolls, however, over the years, there have been a plethora of donations that has led to a great expansion of the museum. To this day Mrs. Taylor's original collection only consists of around a third of the dolls in the museum.

Today, the collection consists of over 200 dolls that have been donated internationally, many from out of state, and possibly the most extensive part is attributed to Nicholas Countians that no longer reside in the county but hope for the continuation of our unique culture. Some of the most notable pieces within the collection include Mr. Calvin Denton's collection of fire trucks and other various fire fighting memorabilia, as well as the rare Liberty of London dolls that serve as a representation of the coronation of King George

VI in England. Possibly the most culturally relevant piece in the collection is the hand carved poppet crafted by Orlenia Combs Ritchie; these dolls are native of Kentucky and were originally created for her family and to sell.

The Kentucky Doll and Toy Museum is definitely a great thing that helps contribute to our culture as Nicholas Countians. The museum serves as an ideal historic entity where people can come and reminisce about times past, as well as reconnecting people with their childhoods. The museum is one of few doll museums in Kentucky, thus showing why it is so important to our community.

If you would like to visit the museum, they are open Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday from 11 AM to 4 PM, admission is $2.00 (minimum donation - children admitted without cost). If you are interested in purchasing a membership to the museum contact Ed or Jan Taylor at (859) 289-4040 and the fee is $20 for an individual and $30 for a family. Members are not charged admission.

Girls Basketball

By Kyle Campbell

Girls basketball is off and running. Although official practices don't start until October. The girls are putting in extra time playing in open gym and conditioning after school. These girls are showing improvement everyday and growing as a team. "Basketball conditioning has been going well" said Jennifer Cornett.

"Although we don't have the numbers out like I would like, we have good quality girls that work hard and get the job done." The team this year will have a variety of players this year from 6th graders to seniors. They will be very young and be very inexperienced compared to last years team that had five seniors.

Coach Cornett's goals as a team are to be undefeated at home, which will be played this year in the new built gym, win Class A, Bluegrass Conference and District this year. The Lady Jackets will open this year at Rose Hill, November 29th. The first home game will be on December 10th against rival Harrison County. Coach Cornett is very excited about this year and the new gym and would like to thank Mr. Reid and the board members for making our dreams a reality.
