Attempted burglary investigated

By Charles Mattox
News Editor
charles@thecarlislemercury.com

Carlisle Police Officers continue to investigate an attempted burglary of Soper's Family Drug Saturday morning.

According to police, an alarm drop alerted the Carlisle Dispatch Office of a possible breakin to the drug store at approximately 10:15 Sunday morning, and Officer Benny Buckler quickly arrived on the scene.

Once Buckler secured the building he was joined at the scene by Carlisle Chief of Police William Denton and Sgt. Darrell Layne and his K-9 Hancock.

A search of the building indicated the individual or individuals who attempted to break into the drug store had left when the alarm sounded and just before police arrived.

"We have suspects and our investigation continues," said Buckler, who is leading the investigation.

Chief Denton said he was concerned, not just that the attempted burglary happened but especially at the time it happened.

"It's a pretty brazen act," he said. "Someone must be pretty desperate for drugs to attempt this in broad daylight."

Anyone with any information regarding the attempted burglary or any other criminal activity is encouraged to contact the Carlisle Police Department at 289-3710.

Fiscal court discusses resignation, county clerk audit

By Charles Mattox
News Editor
charles@thecarlislemercury.com

Members of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court met Sept. 14 and discussed several topics of interest, including the first reading of the tax ordinance, the resignation of the animal control officer and a 2009 discrepancy in the county clerk's audit.

Animal Control Officer

Tammy Williams offered her letter of resignation. Court members praised Williams' devotion to duty as the animal control officer and as an active member of the Nicholas County Animal Welfare Society. Williams' resignation will be effective Oct. 1.

A special called meeting of the Nicholas County fiscal Court was held Tuesday Sept. 28 to discuss the Animal Control Officer position and strategy to fill the position as well as county related functions the officer will adhere to.

Discussion revealed that an audit of 2009 for the county clerk's office indicate that Doug Fryman had not paid himself approximately $11-12,000 due to him. Fryman was absent from the meeting but magistrates and Judge-Executive Larry Tincher indicated that since Fryman prepared his own annual audit, which he was required to follow and which they said Kentucky Revised statutes stipulated he had to pay himself and clerks with collected fees as they came in first, that the members of this or future fiscal courts weren't obligated to reimburse Fryman for the lost wages.

"The fiscal court is under no obligation to pay him," Tincher said. "This is about doing the right thing and the right thing for us is to protect the tax payers of Nicholas County. The county clerk has to follow the law when it comes to paying himself and the deputy clerks."

Others agreed.

"I can't be for someone coming up short and then running to get the money out of the (county's) general fund," Magistrate Daryl Stacy said.

"When you (fiscal court members) approve the county clerk's budget, you need to make sure it balances out," Tincher added.

Members of the fiscal court also approved the first reading of the tax ordinance.

Greater details of the tax rate will be analyzed in future editions of The Mercury.

RACING ACROSS THE CANE FIELDS

"Curiosity is natural to the soul of man, and interesting objects have a powerful influence on our affections. Let these influencing powers actuate, by the permission or disposal of Providence, from selfish or social views, yet in time the mysterious will of Heaven is unfolded, and we behold our conduct, from whatsoever motives excited, operating to answer the important designs of heaven. Thus we behold Ken-tu-cke."

Heaven Is A Lot Like Kentucky
By Charles Mattox

in 1784.
"Edward Boone packed 22 horses in addition to the ones the family rode (in the 1779 move with Daniel Boone to Kentucky)." Draper Manuscripts, volume 23 C, deposition of Edward Boone Scholl.

The first week of October, 1780 at the Plum Lick, present See Road, Bourbon County.

The dog lunged and Daniel Boone fell to his side to avoid the vicious bite. He felt the dog's hot breath at his throat as it snapped and growled.

In an instant the dog coiled and took a step forward, prepared to lunge again as Daniel Boone threw his rifle to his shoulder and fired. The heavy, lead musket ball struck the dog in chest, just below the neck. It fell on its side with a whimper while giving a few spastic kicks with its back legs before becoming still.

Daniel had just finished reloading his Kentucky Long Rifle, improvising the loading process when he dropped his ramrod as the Shawnee attack began.

He'd frantically whittled away at a cane sprig, quickly fashioning a make shift ramrod as he ran from the warriors.

Daniel jumped over the dog and was 20 feet away in the midst of a large cane field when several shots were fired at him.

It was the second volley of shots coming from at least seven Shawnee men, perhaps as many as ten.

He could hear the banter and bawdy cat calls of several Shawnee warriors who were less than 100 yards away near the western edge of the large cane field that engulfed the terrain near Plum Lick.

They were standing over his brother Ned.

Even after Ned was dead they kept shooting him and laughing.

And the farther he ran through the vast cane field that marked the region of country, it seemed as if the laughter just kept growing louder and louder.

He and Ned looked so much alike the warriors thought they had killed him instead of his younger brother.

They thought they had killed Daniel Boone or the big slow turtle, or Shell-tow-nee as his adopted tribesmen had called him in his past. He had earned the name of the Big Slow Turtle due to his slowness. And though a Shawnee musket ball which had shattered his ankle a few years earlier had left him slow, the wound had continued healing and he found himself now racing across the cane fields and circling back southwestward towards Boone's Station.

"What a horrible mess," he thought as he ran along at that steady mile-eating trot.

Edward and Martha had long made Wilkes County, North Carolina their home before listening to Daniel and going to Kentucky. Ned and Martha had six children, Charity, Jane, Mary, George, Joseph and Sarah, the youngest, who was eight-years-old. Edward was a community and church leader in North Carolina, but now he was just one more Kentucky corpse.

How could he tell his wife Becky?

How could he tell Becky's sister, Ned's widow and their six children that their daddy wasn't coming home ever again, and they would never see their loved one again?

How could he possibly tell them he'd gotten Ned killed?

That's Life

By Mark Harper

Do you believe that you are living a good life and that everything you do is perfect and how God would want it?

Try this: take a piece of paper and make two columns. On one side write down all of the good things and on the other side write down the bad things you have done in your life. I did this exercise and after I was finished the bad side was a lot longer than the good side. Bad things usually stay on your conscious and you are more likely to remember a bad memory than a good one.

At least, that's how it works for me. I believe the reason you always remember the bad things is because they are things you know that you are not supposed to do and they are always in the back of your mind.

On the other hand, in my opinion, when you do something good you don't really pay a whole lot of attention to it. Maybe you helped a friend or gave someone some useful advice. That's the quality of being humane and giving kindness to others that most of us don't dwell on. We just do it automatically. I believe we should all work together if we want to get anything done.

I want to help people. I enjoy doing things that put a smile on someone's face. I use a lot of humor and jokes to get on the "good side" of people.

I have always been able to talk someone down from an angry state to a happy one.

Even though a lot of people can't see the good in life and they live the life of a liar and a hypocrite I believe with the right kind of medicine, whether faith, religion or a type of service that shows them how to live a life that is good, everybody can change and everybody can live a good life.

MERCURY TRIANGLE HEADQUARTERS~SALTWELL~BARTERVILLE

Mr. & Mrs. Michael Davis entertained with a birthday supper and party for the 2nd birthday of their daughter, Shelby, on September 11th held in their big garage. A large crowd of family and friends attended.

The Woodmen of the World Fish Fry was held on Saturday night, September 18th at what used to be the RECC grounds, but the shelter area is now called the Marie Hehr Park. A large crowd attended. Jeff Doyle gave a talk and Rev. Tom Moore gave the blessing. Many door prizes were given. The shelter was much improved with the tables painted and new concrete on floor, leveled with the driveway.

Sharon Feeback, Phyllis Brady, Joyce Smith, Molly Smith, Mary Guy, and Martha Sidles enjoyed the District United Methodist Women's Meeting on Saturday held at Wallingford U.M. Church. Many activities and items of business were held. Many awards were given with Saltwell being presented the "Gold Award". Much criteria of members work goes in to this. The speaker was an outstanding young lady, Elizabeth Cantrel, who works in missions, even in other countries. The Wallingford church is a special place to Phyllis because her grandmother Amanda Carpenter Doyle's relatives gave the land for the church and cemetery, many years ago and it began as "Carpenter Chapel".

Mr. & Mrs. Harry Lee Feeback attended their twin grandchildren's 4th birthday party in Louisville on Saturday night. On Sunday they attended the Allison Reunion, held at the home of Wyoma and Ishmael Smith. The Nicholas County Homemakers prepared and served the meal to a very large crowd at the 4H and FFA Livestock Show & Sale recently, held at the Exhibit Hall at West End Park and the sale was held in the big new barn. Several Homemakers helped prepare the food, while Ellisville Homemakers served it. The last 3 years it has been a packed room.

Headquarters United Methodist Church held a great revival last week, with Bro. Mike Ishmael of Flemingsburg as evangelist. Special singers ministered each evening and a good crowd attended.

Mr. & Mrs. Jeff Doyle, Mr. & Mrs. Bobby Brady and Mr. & Mrs. Charles Doyle were among a very large crowd attending the lovely wedding of Darrin Doyle to Kelli Gibson, held in the yard at Darrin's farm on Salem Pike. It was a western themed wedding., except for her beautiful dress, she and her mom made. Terry Doyle brought the bride to be in a nice black buggy with a white horse. Darrin came in on a horse. Everything nearly was black and white. Darrin had even built a little white chapel which the wedding party and guests were in front of. All decorations and favors on tables in the building were bandannas, horseshoes, boots buckets, bells, cowboy hats, covered wagons, and etc. Besides the reception, they had a large meal and pig roast. A video was shown. They were given a shower at the home of Mr. & Mrs. John Doyle earlier, given by Carol Ann Doyle and Lisa Doyle Hurt.

Members of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the Nicholas County Sheriffs Settlement - 2009 Taxes for the period May 30, 2009 through April 15, 2010. This tax settlement is the responsibility of the Nicholas County Sheriff Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, A and the Audit Guide for Sheriffs Tax Settlements issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As described in Note 1, the Sheriffs office prepares the financial statement on a prescribed basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the modified cash basis, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America In our opinion, the accompanying financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the Nicholas County Sheriffs taxes charged, credited, and paid for the period May 30, 2009 through April 15, 2010, in conformity with the modified cash basis of accounting.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated July 27, 2010 on our consideration of the Sheriffs internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit. Respectfully submitted,

Bourbon Community Hospital presents

ASK the DR?

With Rhonda Grissom, MD
Radiologist

A Radiologist is a physician trained in the diagnostic and for therapeutic use of X-rays and radionuclides, radiation physics and biology; a diagnostic radiologist is trained in diagnostic ultrasound and magnetic resonance imaging and mammography.

Q: What is Digital Mammography?

A: Digital Mammography is the latest technology in the detection of breast cancer. Digital Mammography uses computers and specially designed digital detectors to produce an image that can be displayed on a high-resolution computer monitor, and transmitted and stored just like computer files.

From a patient's point of view, having a digital mammogram is very much like having a conventional screen-film mammogram. Both film-based and digital mammography use compression and x-rays to create clear images of the inside of the breast. During all mammography exams, the technologist positions the patient to image the breast from different angles and compresses the breast with a paddle to obtain optimal image quality.

Unlike film-base mammography, digital mammograms produce images that appear on the technologist's monitor in a matter of seconds. There is no waiting for film to develop, which can mean a shorter time spent in the breast imaging suite.

Q: What are some of the benefits?

A: Unlike other parts of the body, the breast is composed mainly of soft tissue. When breast tissue is x-rayed, it creates an image that looks something like a smoky haze, making it difficult to see tiny "spots," called microcalcifications, and other subtle signs of early cancer.

With digital mamography, the radiologist reviews electronic images of the breast, using special high-resolution monitors. The physician can adjust the brightness, change contrast, and zoom in for close ups of specific areas of interest. Being able to manipulate images is one of the main benefits of digital technology. It can also greatly reduce the need for retakes due to over or under exposure. This potentially saves additional time and reduces your exposure to x-rays.

The Crazy Horse Lady

Rain! What a beautiful thing! No complaining from me about having to get out that umbrella. It was a blessing! Rain just makes everything look refreshed!

Lots and lots of activities going on all around us! With the WEG and the Georgetown Equine Expo events, there is plenty for us horse lovers to enjoy. I believe that just about every realm of horse training, demonstrations, ownership, supplies, etc. is right at our fingertips. All you have to do is take the time and of course, don't leave home without your wallets.

I guess it is sort of like that commercial, I can't recall the exact one, but it is about the credit card usage for those so-called "priceless" moments in our life. By no means am I saying go out and charge up your credit cards so that you can participate in all the equine fun even though it is probably very tempting. In fact, I wish that for all the families out there that live in our beautiful state, they would have come up with a family priced package and remained a little more reasonable instead of catering to the tourists! Of course, this is just my opinion, and I do realize that they are out there to make money and I'm excited about this but this is a once in a lifetime experience that our young people could have appreciated and benefited from. I just think it could have been a little more affordable for the average family.

And then, I guess why should this be any different because it seems that anything you do nowadays is very, very costly.

I'm not sure what the availability of the WEG tickets are now but don't fret there is always the Georgetown Equine Expo that started on September 24th.

There are many talented and knowledgeable clinicians going to be there and plenty of equine vendors! This will run from September 24th - October 10th at the Factory Stores of America at 401 Outlet Drive in Georgetown, Kentucky. You may visit www.georgetownequine-expo.com for more details!

Don't forget that another big event that is going to be taking place is the Annual Secretariat Festival at the Bourbon County Fairgrounds in Paris, Kentucky, on Saturday, October 2nd. This is an event you won't want to miss. Admission is $5.00 per person or $10.00 per car load. There will be plenty of equine demonstrations and the Rocky Mountain Horse Association will be performing twice that day, as well as, carrying the flag for the National Anthem. Vist www.secretariat.com and get the details!

Remember this is a great time to take some extra time to participate in these equine events - they are practically in our backyards. With the cooler temperatures, it is also a great time to be spending time with your equine partners out on our beautiful Kentucky trails!

Until next week -God Bless You, Your Family and YOUR EQUINE FRIENDS and I pray you all have a safe, blessed, horse-filled week!

Thought for the Week: You can never learn too much or be too smart!

Edward Hopper and the American Dream

By Chad Ockerman

For today's column I wanted to show a correlation between the early 20th century painter Edward Hopper and the concept of the "American Dream". I have always had a vast interest in the idea and discussion of defining the American Dream and figuring out what it is, whether it be my personal understanding or just a general guideline for the country as a whole.

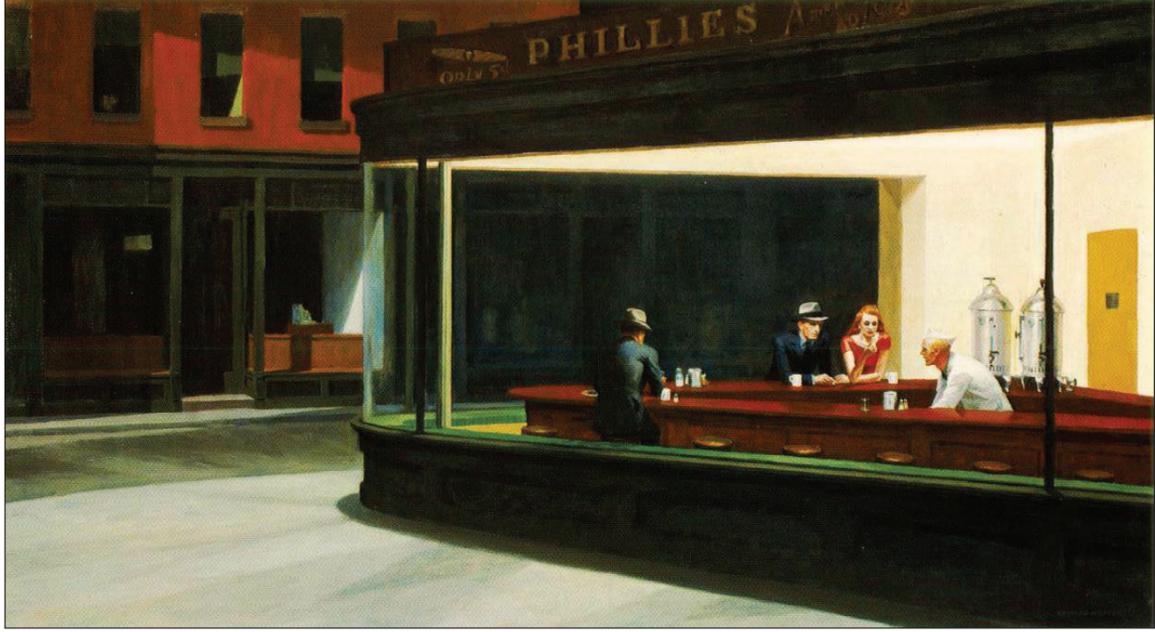

Throughout this article I plan to show you how the paintings of Edward Hopper give us a proper illustration of this perception of American emotion in a time of great adversity and determination. The perspective of the "American Dream" that both Hopper and I will be expressing to you today is not the white picket fence, smiles, happy faces, and success that one would typically associate with this idea, but instead the grit and fortitude it takes to achieve it.

Moving on to the connection between the artist's work and the magnificent balance of beauty and despair that comes with living life as an American. Throughout Hopper's works we see a recurring theme of despair mixed with a comfort in loneliness and thought. When looking at the various oil paintings, water colors, and sketches of this great man one can only feel a eerie sense of loneliness that manages to give you hope for the future. Although I feel that this saying is extremely cliché and over-used it is fitting to say that in each of Hopper's works that "a picture is worth a thousand words." There are so many things conveyed to the viewer in these works that there is no way I can possibly analyze every aspect even if I were to just choose one. Hopper evokes so many emotions in his work alongside great confusion that allows the viewer to make their own conclusions on the work.

To begin, I feel that it is only appropriate to give a proper introduction to Edward Hopper so that it will be easier to understand how his genius connects to this extremely broad subject. Hopper was an American painter who was predominately prevalent in the early 1900s, his style mainly revolved around depictions of American life, architecture, and landscape. During the early years of Hopper's life he struggled immensely with his dream of becoming an established artist until 1913 at the age of 31 when he would sell his first painting. With the exception of various travelling experience, Hopper lived in New York throughout the entirety of his life and much of his artwork reflected the lifestyle and culture of this area. Hopper also had a pension for the scenery and architecture of the New England area as well as the Atlantic coast.

My personal favorite and likely the most recognizable work by Hopper is Nighthawks (shown above) which was created in the midst of World War II (1942). The painting, Nighthawks, depicts a scene of an overnight diner with three patrons and a restaurant server, presumably very late into the night. The patrons of the diner are arranged in a very interesting fashion, with a male sitting alone (the apparent focal point of the work) with his back facing the viewer's perspective of the painting, the two others (an apparent couple) are settled at the other end of the bar, and lastly the restaurant worker stays slightly right of the couple. Nighthawks captures the essence of the concerns, worries, and woes of wartime and hard work.

When looking at Nighthawks we can see the struggle of Americans at the time and we can somewhat relate it to the troubles of the present. Uncertainty, fear, and confusion are the fundamental feelings I get when looking at this piece which ties to the point of my article. I personally feel that to accomplish the American dream we must undergo extreme hardships and this painting truly shows it. The man sitting alone in the painting is a model of the ambiguity of a worker trying to accomplish his goals especially in a time of hardship such as this. It is in this man alone we can make so many conclusions on what Hopper was trying to help us understand. It is my opinion that the man is simply sitting alone in thought, pondering over the concerns of tomorrow, and resting himself from the tribulations of that day. It is this unwavering determination for a better tomorrow that I feel mostly connects with the feeling of the American dream - that with hard work, determination, and careful thinking, anything can be accomplished.

Hopper's usage of a contrast in light and dark within the painting also attest to one of the possible hidden meanings I've theorized. I would suggest that within the diner the bright fluorescent lighting represents a comfort and security that provides from a cold, dark, and overwhelming world. A possible theme for Nighthawks that relates to our overriding idea of the American dream is the relief provided to us by freedom that we may someday conquer the cold, dark world through hard work.

As I stated earlier, the hope for a better tomorrow through hard work is what moves us closer and closer to the American dream. Nighthawks shows us that although we may feel alone at a diner (in the world) that there are others right there with you (in the same situation and trials of life). The knowledge that you are not alone in accomplishing all the great things you want to within your life is what is truly amazing about America. The knowledge that although we are alone is put at ease by knowing that we all must all gain understanding of the dark world we live in.

Perhaps we as Americans today can take heed of all the things said in Edward Hopper's artwork. The knowledge that we live in a country that we always have the possibility of bettering our situation is the American dream within itself. In conclusion of this article I feel as though it may not have been what you as the reader expected...because it turned out to be different than I had intended. Nonetheless, Edward Hopper was a great painter and an even greater person at seeing content of what he wanted to paint. Hopper depicted people and the ideals bestowed to us by growing up in America. If you get a chance you should check out other works by Hopper and you will learn through his depictions of the architecture especially his close ties to the American way of life. His depiction of people and towns shows great semblance of freedom and deep thought, both of which being extremely important to the culture of America.

Maxey Flats hosts open house

Officials are scheduled to be present to answer questions regarding a radioactive waste site in Fleming County.

An open house will be held at the Maxey Flats project in Hillsboro, Ky. on Wednesday, Oct. 6, 2010, from 1 - 6 p.m.

"Each year, our open house provides an opportunity for the public to see the success of an environmental management program and its operations first hand and ask questions concerning the past, present and future of the Maxey Flats project," said Scott Wilburn, project supervisor with the Energy and Environment Cabinet's Division of Waste Management.

Maxey Flats is a former commercial facility used for the disposal of low-level radioactive waste. To ensure proper closure and management, the state has maintained the facility since commercial operations were discontinued in 1978. More information about the facility is online at <http://waste.ky.gov/SFB/Pages/MaxeyFlatsProject.aspx>.

Contaminated radionuclides have been detected from areas near Lower rock Lick Creek, a tributary of Fox Creek. Fox Creek runs into the Licking River and several miles downstream from there water is drawn from the Licking River as part of the Western Fleming County Water Association.

The open house features facility tours and presentations throughout the day with refreshments available. Information on an upcoming Multi-Agency Response Training, to take place at the facility on Oct. 9, also will be available. This training is a mock exercise that allows state and local government agencies, along with community emergency response organizations and hospitals, to simulate a disaster and evaluate the response.

For more information, contact the project office at 606-783-8680.

A Notice to the Community of Carlisle

We as neighbors, relatives and friends are preparing a fish fry benefit for Wendell Watkins. We are asking everyone in the community to attend and give their support to Wendell and his family in his time of need. Once again, we are asking the ladies and gentlemen of our churches who like to cook to help prepare and donate our desserts. We will also take any items that you are willing to give away to put in our auction. Wendell is not expected to return to work anytime soon. He still has a long road ahead of him to recover. Wendell Watkins has been diagnosed with Pancreatitis and a large Pseudocyst on his pancreas. He became ill on 5/7/10 and was hospitalized at Ky. Rivers Medical Center in Jackson, Ky. He spent five days there and was in intensive care. He was released from there and was hospitalized in the Nicholas County Hospital a few days later. After being discharged from there he returned to work in Tennessee. While there, he ended up in the Johnson City Medical Center in Johnson City, TN. he spend 9 days there and then was released to the care of his family doctor. After being home 2 days he became very ill and was once again admitted to Nicholas County Hospital and was transferred to Harrison Memorial Intensive Care. The next day he had a stent placed in his biliary duct and was transferred to University of Kentucky Medical Center intensive Care Unit. He spent 21 days there undergoing multiple Tests and medications. He has now had the stent removed along with gall stones. He has been off work since June 2, 2010 and will remain off until the cyst resolves or surgical intervention is taken. He continues to be monitored closely by his doctors. He has lost a total of 91 pounds at this time. He remains weak and with pain and discomfort. Wendell will have huge medical payments and is going to need help to keep the payments up on his home. Once again, we are asking everyone in our community to give a lending hand to help make Wendell's needs much easier. Come on out to the Carlisle Armory on October 3 at 1:00 p.m. and have a full course meal and to enjoy the fun that we always have at our auctions!! Don't forget to get you ticket on the 50 in. LG flat screen tv! If you have anything to donate for the auction and you need someone to pick it up, contact (859) 473-0033 or (859) 473-0277. We will appreciate anything that can help us out on this matter. Thank you for taking the time to read this message and remember sickness is a strange thing and could happen to anyone.

Potluck

The crowd was a little sparse at the 4th Friday potluck but the food just keep coming! and it was delicious as usual. We had 3 out of town guests, which was wonderful! Two ladies staying in Millersburg to volunteer at the WEG games came as guests of Johnny Kidwell - thanks Johnny for thinking of us! Jane was from Walla Walla Washington, and Jill was from Danville, PA. Both ladies were delightful and so interesting to talk with. Amy Rankin Mastin and her daughter Olivia, came representing the Carlisle Courier. Amy attended MES until 5th grade and is a former resident of Millersburg. It was great to see her again as she talked with folks and enjoyed a meal with us.

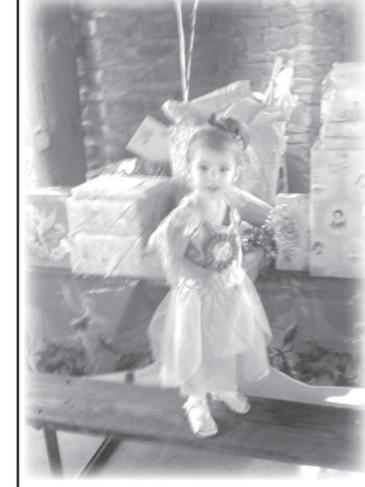

Announcements:

1. continue to keep the Stone's in your prayers. They were regular potluck attendees and we miss them.
2. 5th Street Antiques hosted a luncheon on Friday and the ladies reported it was very nice and the food was delicious and beautifully presented. It is hopeful they will be serving lunch soon.
3. There are aprons to be stenciled and gingerbread men to be decorated at the Visitors Center in preparation for the Tour on Nov 21st.
4. In conjunction with American Legion Post 257, David Rankin post, a veterans salute will be the month of November. Cora Coffey is preparing pictures of Millersburg vets and if you would like to contribute, please see Cora at the Visitors Office. The flag pole will be rededicated on Oct 30th at 1 p.m.
5. The City has removed the overgrown taxus shrubs at the flag pole. Cora is willing to plant mums and spread mulch to make the area prettier. If anyone would like to donate $10.00 to help with the purchase of the mums and mulch, please take it to Cora. THANKS in advance for your financial help!

Booth also said that officers receive all kinds of reports of a variety of animals including African Lions (it turned out to be a very large housecat) and even get reports on Bigfoot sightings, but he said wildlife, including bobcats and black bear populations are indeed on the rise.

"We've even had some credible reports of a mountain lion (panther) being spotted in Harrison County," Booth said.

Kentucky Wildcat (lynx, bobcat) populations are on the increase in Nicholas County.

A recent road kill specimen was preserved and checked with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife officers after discovering it shortly after it had been killed on the roadway near Myer's Station in north central Nicholas County last week.

Cody Emmons, who is a state worker who has been among the crew working on a bridge project in Carlisle in recent weeks, recognized the bobcat, which had been killed early last Thursday morning on the Myer's Road.

"We have a lot of bobcats in that section of the county," veteran Fish and Wildlife officer Herbert Booth said over the weekend.

Booth said officers have confirmed multiple sightings of bobcats and observed bobcats, both dead and alive in recent years in Nicholas County, particularly heavy in numbers near

Hosting again Nicholas played Saint Patrick and the 7th grade team won 44 to 15. The eighth grade team pulled out a win, after a very tightly played first half. Kaela Saner and Grace Kiskaden each had 10 points as high scorers. Abby DeRossett had 5 points, Allison Howard had 4, Shelby Watkins contributed 3 points to the victory, Autumn Martin and Ayla Robinson put in a bucket a piece and Jessica hit one from the foul line. Over the weekend the 6th & 5th grade players traveled to Rowan County to participate in the 6th Grade Invitational. The Rowan County Invitational hosted eight teams. The Jackets played the hosting team first, Rowan County, and pulled out a 27 to 21 win. Next they faced off with Montgomery and claimed a 24 to 13 victory. During the 3rd game the NCMS Lady Jackets dominated advancing with a 31 to 2 victory. The team fell in the Championship game 19 to 25 playing Mason County. Coach Flowers commented, "Our team played well this weekend. I'm proud of my team, nothing was falling in the first half against Mason but they didn't give up. They came out in the second half and played aggressive team ball. The clock just wasn't in our favor." The next two games for the team are at home against Bracken then Augusta.

Fondest Memories

By Melissa Mitchell

Over the past week, I have been hearing people talking about discipline in the schools. I hear why not bring the paddling back to where the principals can discipline the students better. This bring back a memory of being in the fifth grade, Mrs. Doris Tipton (not Tyra) was my teacher. I remember her taking a group of us out the landing, lined us up, and paddled us for not having our work completed. That was the first paddling that I had received and I will say it was the last. I not only got that paddling from the school but when the phone call came in to the parents it was another paddling waiting at home as well. The paddling from home was worse than the one at school and it was enough to make me realize that I didn't want another one. I know that people seem to think that they don't want to see the paddling back in the schools but from my very own experience it taught me to be respectful, well mannered, and to obey and follow instructions. I know that I not only didn't want the paddling from the school but I definitely didn't want anymore from the one at home. I wonder how many of us have had that same paddling at school then arrived at home and received another one? Probably several have received their fair share of paddling. After a couple of years and once in high school the paddling was not allowed in the schools.. I recall several students saying I can do what ever I please and there is nothing that you can do to me. Well, that is pretty much the way of our society today.

But don't think that the school was the only paddling that I received, because I received a few of those at home that weren't school related. But by receiving the one at school, it didn't take long to change my mind about how things were suppose to go. I have to say that Mrs. Doris Tipton (Trya) was an outstanding teacher, and I want to say thank you to her for giving me a life lesson that only a few licks of the paddle and the consequences of home gave me something to carry on throughout my life.

Jackets fall to Raceland in district game

Following a week off, Nicholas County returned to competition Friday night at home against Class A, District 5 rival Raceland. The Jackets, playing the role of host in their third straight game, entertained Raceland after opening the season 3-1. Nicholas County played well but couldn't fend off the visiting Rams. Raceland gradually pulled away from Nicholas County, defeating the Jackets 28-12. Nicholas County played longtime rival Raceland much closer than in previous outings over the years.

Raceland rolled up yardage, finishing with 431 yards of total offense. Nicholas County remained within striking distance of visiting Raceland despite being outgained by over 200 yards. Nicholas County finished with 214 yards of total offense in the district contest. Raceland picked up 215 yards through 30 rushing attempts. The Rams were 22-for-35 through the air, amassing 216 yards and three touchdowns with one interception. Caleb Pope led Nicholas County on the ground as he rushed 15 times for 51 yards. Nicholas County faced plenty of resistance rushing the football. The Jackets were limited to 51 yards through 30 carries. Nicholas County quarterback Charby Pope completed 8-of-14 passes for 163 yards and two touchdowns. Austin Allison was 0-for-3 with an interception for the Jackets. Allison, however, recorded one reception for a game-high 81 yards. Five different Nicholas County receivers nabbed at least one catch. Matthew Kelly reeled in two catches for 37 yards and one touchdown. Ty Warmouth made two receptions for 16 yards and one touchdown. Caleb Pope and Zach Howard also had one reception apiece for the Jackets. Warmouth averaged 36.6 yards per punt for the Jackets. Nicholas County dropped to 3-2 overall and 1-1 in Class A, District 5 after absorbing the loss. The Jackets had won three of their first four games, defeating Bath County, Fleming County and district counterpart Berea. Nicholas County will be back on the gridiron Friday night when it visits Lexington Christian for another key district game. The Jackets have additional regular-season games remaining with Lewis County (Oct. 8), Fairview (Oct. 15), Paris (Oct. 22) and Bracken County (Oct. 29). Kickoff for the Nicholas County - Lexington Christian district game is set for 7:30 p.m.

GENERAL NEWS

Bread of Life by Bro. Phillip

Psalm 33:10 The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought: He maketh the devices of the people of none effect. You may be facing trouble today, that's being caused by people who have willfully plotted to do you harm. They may be trying to steal your business, your home, or to destroy your life. If so, I have a word of encouragement for you. According to Psalm 33:10 God will bring the plans of those people to nought. He will make their devices of none effect. The counsel of the heathen is brought to nought. Remember this, when you make God your stronghold, in the time of trouble, no one can overcome you. No matter how powerful they are in the natural, the odds are in your favor, because you trust in the Lord. Rest assured you are eventually going to triumph over this trouble, if you will set your affections on the Lord. The thoughts of His heart will continually be coming to your heart. "The mouth of the righteous speaketh wisdom and his tongue talketh of judgment.

The law of his God is in his heart; none of his steps shall slide. Psalm 37:30-31 Gods counsel will give you stability when all the world is shaking. Evil tidings cannot steal your peace no matter how it looks in the natural. Matt: 5:10 blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake: for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven. 11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. 12 Rejoice and be exceeding Glad: for great is your reward in Heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

College Football

Week three in college football was a normal week of football compared to recent weeks. There were many good games with no surprise upsets.

The Kentucky Wildcats played at home against the Akron Zips. The Wildcats struggled in the first half. They were very sloppy on offense and only managed 10 points on offense against a team that wasn't very good. In the second half, Kentucky came out booming and looked like a real and true SEC football game. They won 41-17 but the true test will come next week when they play rival and national powerhouse Florida Gators led by Coach Urban Meyer.

For fans that think a real college football team has to come from a major conference like the Big Ten or SEC, there are two teams that deserve just as much credit and are just as good as those schools. People say Boise St. doesn't belong in the top and mentioned as a national contender. Boise St. has had five games in seven years. That's less losses in that time than Ohio St., Michigan, and Florida. Boise St. is currently ranked 13 in the nation and hasn't lost to a ranked team in three years. If Ohio St. or Alabama lose this season then Boise St. will be in the national championship game. TCU is what I call a small version of Boise St. but is currently ranked 7th in the nation and can make a lot of noise against many teams.

A major surprise this season is how the USC Trojans under new head coach Lane Kiffin have played this season. They are in 3-0 this season but have not played like it. They have struggled offensively and defensively unlike past USC teams under Coach Pete Carroll.

The Trojans have only averaged 20 points a game compared to 37 they averaged last season. With all this top recruits that USC bring in every year, this year just isn't coming together. The tough task will be how well USC can play against Oregon, Arizona and other teams that are in the Pac-10.

NFL Football

Week 2 of the NFL has come and gone. This was the week when you separate the good from the bad. With many surprises and many heart breaking loses. One of the hardest games was between the Cincinnati Bengals and Baltimore Ravens. It would be a hard, rough, smash-mouth game. With both offenses struggling the entire game, it came down to defense, field position and field goals. Neither team scored a touchdown. Mike Nugent, the Bengals kicker, kicked five field goals, and did all the scoring himself. After the game, Ray Lewis of the Baltimore Ravens was very unhappy and upset at this team and the referees.

There were many surprising victories for some teams. The Dolphins defeated the Vicking 14-10 on the road to give the Vikings an 0-2 start. Another team that will start the season 0-2 is the Dallas Cowboys. The Cowboys are arguably the most talented team but with an 0/2 start and offense struggles, can they still be the team everyone thinks they can be. After coming out and destroying the Bengals and with Vetz struggles in week 1. The Patriots where favorites to do it again but the Jets had other plans. The Patriots struggled on offense and only put up 14 points. Tom Brady after the game said "it was awful, we couldn't defend, we couldn't run, and we couldn't throw.

The Steelers weren't expected to be 2-0 without Big Ben. Even after back up Byron Leftwich went down to injury 3rd string OB Dennis Dixon started and played well as the Steelers defeated the Flacons in week 1. Against the Titans and even losing QB Dennis Dixon, the Steelers still managed to win the 4th string OB Charlie Batch and move to 2-0. The only question remains what happens if Charlie Batch goes down before Big Ben returns?

On Monday night the Saints traveled to San Francisco to play the 49'ers. This game was well played and came down to the last 4 seconds of the game when Saints Kicker Garrett Hartley kicked a field goal and even though a 49'ers player tipped it, he still made it. The Saints looked much better this week and got their offense back together. The 49'ers also looked better after not scoring a touchdown in week 1. Alex Smith finally looked like the Quarterback he is supposed to be when they drafted him with the number one pick six years ago.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Cameron Bowles

Cameron is a great student and an even better young man. He is a wonderful student to have in class as he does all his work without question and has great behavior. Cameron is very active in class participating in class discussions and always asking great questions. Cameron also has a great personality and seems to get along with everyone. Cameron not only works hard in the classroom but he is also very active in Nicholas County Middle School athletics where he plays football, basketball, and baseball. As a teacher and a coach it is always great when you have a student that excels not only in athletics but also in the classroom!

--Mr. Earlywine

Kimberly Wells

Kaitlyn stood apart from many of her freshmen classmates, in my opinion, from day one of school. She handles herself with a great deal of maturity whether she is dealing with school issues or social interactions. When I need someone to respond in class or share a thought, and all the room goes painfully silent, Kaitlyn is always willing to step up and help me out. Another of Kaitlyn's characteristics that I greatly appreciate is her desire to get things right. If she doesn't know the answer she'll ask, no problem. If she needs to get make-up work or clarify a point she will get her information. This great quality, along with the others mentioned above, reveal that Kaitlyn holds herself to a high standard, and that is a greatly admirable trait.

--Mr. Stinson

Samantha McCarty

I would like to nominate Samantha McCarty for this week's Student Spotlight Showcase.

Samantha is a pleasure to have in class! She always gives 100%. Samantha is a hard worker and provides me with her best effort. She comes to class prepared and always ready to participate. She is such a model student.

Samantha always has a smile on her face and a positive mental attitude. She is polite and courteous to other peers and teachers. Samantha will accomplish any dream that she sets for herself.

-- Mrs. Irvin

Taylor Mitchell

This week my student spotlight is Taylor Mitchell. Taylor has done an excellent job this year in Algebra class. She currently has an A in the class. Taylor is always listening and participating in class. But what sets Taylor apart from everyone else is her attitude and work ethic. Taylor is very eager to learn and is a joy to have in my class. What makes Taylor a this weeks student spotlight is her enthusiasm she brings everyday to the classroom.

Shooting suspect arrested

By Charles Mattox

Lexington police arrested the man they say is responsible for killing a Paris man and shooting a man and Nicholas County ties. Jarrod Vice, 27, who has family ties in Nicholas County, was shot and wounded and his friend Jerry Waugh, 29, of Paris was killed following a shooting Sunday afternoon, Sept. 19 in Lexington on Kenton Street.

Darrell Eugene Farrier, 29, of Lexington was arrested Thursday afternoon by Lexington Police officers and charged with murder, assault and robbery.

According to Public Information officer Sherelle Roberts, Vice and Waugh were in a vehicle driven by Vice when Farrier, who allegedly knew at least one of the men, got into the vehicle on Kenton Street.

Moments later Farrier demanded money and ultimately shot both Vice and Waugh in the head while he was still inside the vehicle, according to police.

Vice was able to drive from the scene a short distance and summon help from residents, moments after the shooting.

Waugh died Sept. 20.

Vice remains in the university of Kentucky Medical Center.

Lexington Police Detective Dave Richardson led the investigation and with the assistance of other detectives and Lexington police, arrested Farrier at 1:30 Thursday Sept. 23.

"He was arrested without incident," Roberts said.

Kendra Sparks 7 yr old daughter of Becky Donahue and Bucky Sparks, was crowned "Little Miss Chautauqua" in Millersburg, Friday night, September 17, 2010. Kendra would like to thank everyone for their donations and support.

Please join the Nicholas County Historical Society for a reception honoring the contributions of the Asbury Family to our community and to the Neal Center. Sunday, October 3 from 1:30 to 3:00 at the Neal Building.

GENERAL NEWS

Hughes faces several criminal charges

By Charles Mattox
News Editor
charles@thecarlislemercury.com

A Mount Olivet man arrested on Sept. 12 for 10 criminal charges is scheduled to have a preliminary hearing this week in Nicholas District Court. Dustin K. Hughes, 19, of Mount Olivet, was arrested by Fish and Wildlife Officer L. Clark and cited for ten violations including reckless driving, possession of a controlled substance not in original container, possession of a controlled substance (two counts), operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol/drugs, first offense; operating a motor vehicle on suspended license, fleeing or evading police, resisting arrest, possession of drug paraphernalia, carrying concealed deadly weapon and tampering with physical evidence. Hughes allegedly "passed four vehicles at a high rate of speed" and "stayed in the wrong lane and nearly (hit) oncoming traffic", according to the arrest citation issued to Hughes.

Hughes' alleged reckless driving began at approximately 1:30 p.m., at Clark Hills in Nicholas County, six miles south of Carlisle, according to the arrest citation. Hughes failed sobriety field tests and was found to be in possession of drugs and drug paraphernalia, according to the arrest citation. Hughes allegedly had pills in a plastic bag and a "spoon" on his person during his traffic stop. After failing the field sobriety tests and placing the pills in the bag on the hood of his 2007 KIA, Hughes allegedly grabbed the pills and ran.

"Subject grabbed his bag of pills off the hood of my vehicle and ran," Officer Clark wrote on Hughes' citation. Clark and Carlisle Chief of Police William Denton chased and apprehended Hughes after a race of approximately one-half mile, according to the citation.

"Subject fought while being handcuffed" the citation reads regarding Hughes' alleged resisting arrest charge. Hughes also had "brass knuckles" in his pants pocket, according to his arrest citation. Hughes was taken to Bourbon County Detention Center where he remains lodged. He was arraigned following his arrest and Public Defender Matthew Perdue was assigned as his attorney, according to court records.

Several of Hughes' charges are felonies and those charges will be bound over to a future Nicholas County grand jury if District Judge, Honorable William Kuster, finds probable cause following the preliminary hearing Wednesday Sept. 29.

All persons are innocent until proven guilty or pleading guilty.

Two injured in single-vehicle accident

By Charles Mattox
News Editor
charles@thecarlislemercury.com

A single-vehicle accident on Sept. 21 at 7:20 p.m. sent two young Nicholas women to the hospital with non-life threatening injuries.

Jessica White, 18, of Carlisle was driving a

2005 four-door Chevrolet near the Nicholas-Fleming County line on Ky. 32 near Pleasant Valley when she dropped an item in the vehicle, momentarily had the passenger tires drop off the shoulder of the road, overcorrected, crossed the center line, struck a road sign, and then struck a culvert, which caused the vehicle to flip.

The vehicle traveled another 63 feet before coming to a rest on its top in a hay field, according to the accident report.

White and a 17-year-old female passenger were treated by Nicholas County EMS and taken to Nicholas County Hospital.

Nicholas County Deputy Sheriff David Gray also responded to the scene.

Police sources say White was transported by air to the University of Kentucky medical center where she was treated and later released.

Last Friday night the Nicholas County FFA Chapter held a barn movie at Toby Howard's house. Thankfully it was a perfect night for the event. Everyone had a blast; we grilled hamburgers and hotdogs, had corn hole set up, ladder ball set up and played some football and basketball. About 30 members attended the outing.
