Forest fire burns several local acres

By Brad Ballinger
 KYNewsGroup
 brad@kynewsgroup.com

Nicholas County firefighters were called out to 2200 Abner's Mill Road on Monday afternoon as a forest fire engulfed several acres and was spreading fast. The fire began when a brush fire got out of control and quickly spread. Nicholas Firefighters were joined by firefighters from different places, including Ewing and the Forestry Service.

Amazingly the Nicholas firefighters were able to knock the fire down and pretty much have it under control by the time the Forestry Service arrived. The area of the fire required the firefighters to use different means than normal due to the fact that it was up a huge hillside and the terrain prevented the large trucks from being able to reach it. A water tank and gas powered pump along with backpacks, filled with water and a hand pump were the tools of the day.

The amazing work of all involved prevented the forest fire from raging out of control and saved many places and people from receiving too much damage. No one was hurt during the fire.

There were several highlights to this year's football team at Nicholas County and there are many honors now being added as well. Caleb Pope, Austin Allison, Jon Lee Allison, and Charby Pope were named to the All District team. But it didn't stop there, Caleb Pope was also named E.K.C. (Eastern Kentucky Conference) Player of the year as well as Austin Allison, Jon Lee Allison, Zack Howard and Charby Pope being named to the E.K.C. first team roster.

These honors followed up what many considered to be a great season for the Bluejackets who are currently sitting with a 7 and 4 record and continuing to play in post season play.

Head football coach and Athletic Director Robert Hopkins said, "It's a good honor for them and they are well deserving of it."

SEEDS

*In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.*

*We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie,
In Flanders fields.*

*Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.*

Written by Lt. Col. John McCrea, on May 3, 1915, shortly after the funeral of his dear friend, Lt. Alexis Helmer, as the Battle of Ypres raged in western Belgium. McCrea scribbled the poem down and then threw it away, but another officer, Francis Alexander Scriminger, pulled it from the trash and saved it. It remains a popular poem today and is very closely associated with Veteran's Day.

"We were firing out twin 40 millimeter guns, but that kamikaze just kept coming. It dived right at us. I thought for sure we were goners. I thought it was all over with."

Flemingsburg resident, Pete McNeil, commenting on his thoughts as a Japanese Kamikaze dived at his ship LST 1123 during the Battle of Okinawa

I had known Pete McNeil as a community leader and good man for most of my life. I didn't know until a few years ago that he was a World War Two Veteran.

Frankly, he just didn't look old enough.

I found myself entranced as I listened to Mr. McNeil, who joined the Navy at 17-years of age.

Pete said he was eager to join in the war effort, just as most his age were, and that he was eager to seek adventure, again like most his age.

I imagine everyone that's ever worn the uniform can say the same.

Like my father, dear reader, perhaps like yours or your grandfather.

They all found more than enough adventure before the war ended to last a lifetime, and then some.

McNeil survived Japanese Kamikaze's, with the kamikaze soaring only inches above the deck of his ship before exploding into a Navy APO, a smaller support ship. McNeil survived enemy fire during two amphibious assaults. He also survived a Tsunami that nearly drowned everyone aboard their ship and was as frightening to endure for three days as anything they'd ever experience.

Heaven Is A Lot Like Kentucky

By Charles Mattox

McNeil was one of the first Americans to see the devastation caused by the nuclear explosion at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

The heat from the blast at Hiroshima was so intense that he still remembers the graphic scenes.

Our veterans of foreign wars have seen much.

They can never un-see these things no more than they can un-know that two plus two equals four.

I like what Mr. McNeil said about what he would like to convey to younger citizens and veterans across the county, state and nation.

"Realize what a wonderful country we have to live in with all of its strengths and flaws. Appreciate it. We should be willing to do anything necessary to preserve it that we can as individuals."

I like that.

And I like McCrea's references to poppies in his poem.

The seeds of the poppy flowers can lay dormant for years and will only grow in exposed ground when no other flowers bloom.

They covered the entire battlefield near Flanders when McCrea wrote his historic lines as the "war to end all wars" continued.

NOT JUST ANYONE, YOU WERE OUR HERO

By: Tammy Biddle

It seems like just yesterday we were all gathered around for dinner at your house, life without you seems quiet as a mouse.

Veteran's Day is a day to honor all those who fought for us, you were so much more than a soldier; you never made a big fuss.

We are all so very proud of you for fighting in those battles, now we all just sit and listen to our hearts rattle.

I will never let anyone make me feel like you were a zero, you were not just anyone, you were our hero.

As father, husband, grandfather, and great-grandfather, you always knew how to please you were the best at all of these!

It's time to rest now sweet soldier, time for healing to begin, one day we will all see you again.

It will be nice to see that sweet and loving smile, if it would have taken your pain away, we would have walked a mile.

When we look at your pictures, we all smile and talk about all of our memories, rest now sweet soldier, you no longer have to worry about your enemies.

We love you will all of our hearts and souls, they will never reach temperatures of subzero, our hearts are filled with warmth all the time, you were not just any hero, you were our hero.

With Love from each and every one of us!

Bread of Life

James 5:8 Be ye also patient; establish your hearts for the coming of the Lord draws near. Look at the words of Jesus again in Matthew 24:37 As the days of Noah we, so shall the coming of the son of man be. His coming will be in two stages, fulfilling two different promises. First, the Lord Jesus Christ will come to the air with a shout. Raising the Christians who have died and change the bodies of the believers who are alive and catch them away to be forever with him. Everyone who knows they are going, shout now!!! 1st Thessalonians, John 14:3, Then later when all who rejected Christ will be judged when the Lord Jesus Christ shall be revealed in Heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. 2nd Thessalonians 1:7-8, Acts 17:31, Ask yourself today, what is in God Schedule for you?

Will you be among those who know not God and perish or will you be among the blood bought people of God, and be caught up to forever with Christ? Knowing God is not just believing that he exists. His sheep know his voice and follow him. John 10:4 Knowing God is entering into a personal relationship with him, through faith in him. Romans 8:14 For as many are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. Jesus Christ is the only way to the Father. John 14:6 Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life, no man cometh unto father but by me." There is a lot of different stuff being taught that doesn't line up with God's word. If it is against what God says, it is "Antichrist". If it doesn't have a chapter or a verse in God's Holy word, then it is not the truth. In order to be ready for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, you must realize that you need salvation. For all have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God. Romans 3:23 You must realize without Jesus Christ, this is no salvation. For there is no other name under heaven given among men. Whereby we must be saved Acts 4:12, Matthew 10:32-33, Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my father which is in Heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny. My friends there are no closet Christians. Matthew 8:38, whosoever therefore shall not be ashamed of me and of my word in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him also shall the son of man be ashamed. When he comes in the glory of his father with holy angels. It's not who you are or what you have; it's whom you know that determines where you go.

MERCURY TRIANGLE HEADQUARTERS~SALTWELL~BARTERVILLE

The Ellisville Homemakers met on Thursday, November 3, at the adult education center under the library. First was the pledge of allegiance, Phyllis Brady gave the devotional, reading from Psalms 107 and poem entitled "Unsung Heroes" followed by prayer. Faye Duggard gave copies of the minutes of the last meeting. Debbie Workman gave the treasurer's report. We sure were pleased with the proceeds from our cakewalk. Brenda Day showed a nice rug she'd made out of strips of blue jeans. The homemaker's creed was read in union. Phyllis Brady gave a report on the good area meeting in Lexington. Debbie Workman gave report on the meeting in Lexington about cooking. After the business conducted by Martha Ritchie and announcements of upcoming events, we had a delicious Thanksgiving meal with Martha and Norm as hosts with turkey and dressing, etc. with others potluck. Fall decorations and each of us was given a fall candle holder. This month's lesson was a mail out entitled, "Let the Consumer Beware". Today we had our annual auction, which is always fun as well as helping our club. The last part of the meeting was recreation. Phyllis Brady had a game of facts about Thanksgiving. It was rather hard but educational. Several of the Doyle Family and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Dryden spent the past weekend camping at Fort Boonesboro State Park. On Saturday night, the park had a Thanksgiving meal, with potluck also. A wonderful revival closed out on Sunday morning at Oakland Mills U.M.C. after 6 services with good crowds and singing. Dr. Jack Wilhite brought every outstanding message and the pastor is Brenda Routt. A dinner was served on Sunday. Sympathy is extended the families of Harold Bussell and Rose Scott who passed away this past week. Among those Phyllis Brady visited with the past week were Phyllis and James Gaunce, Marjorie Fryman, Don Adams, and Rob Doyle at his work. A large gathering of family and friends enjoyed a reception for the newlyweds, Rebecca and Eric House held at the Carlisle Christian Church on Sunday afternoon. They were married October 3rd in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Chief District Judge Jack Arnold delivered his decision in the church-school truancy case last week ruling that a letter mailed to the Nicholas County Schools by Hilltop Wesleyan Academy in Paris, sufficiently complied with reporting requirements. Over 500 spectators packed into the Nicholas County courtroom to hear the outcome of the case that began when Mr. and Mrs. Terry Jolly of Carlisle removed their children from the Nicholas County School and enrolled them in Wesleyan Academy. A local option petition containing 64 legitimate voter signatures has been filed with County Clerk Rose Scott bringing the number of precincts asking for a wet/dry vote to four. The election is set for April 16.

Clark ShROUT was sentenced to 21 year in prison for his role in the shooting death of Ollie McIlvaine. The jury deliberated for 3 minutes before returning a verdict.

McIlvaine was slain at the Buzzard Roost home of Walter and Ben Collins.

McIlvaine and ShROUT were close friends since early childhood, and when testifying on his own behalf, ShROUT testified that he had been drinking all day and did not even remember the shooting, in which it was alleged he pulled a pistol and fired five times at McIlvaine with each shot striking McIlvaine.

Witnesses testified that indeed ShROUT had been drinking, but McIlvaine was completely sober.

A jury trying the case of Floyd "Penny" Walker reported that it was hopelessly deadlocked. Walker is accused of murdering George Miller on the streets of Carlisle in December.

"Check, please"

It's a simple request, and it's something that's critical for the colon health of people over 50 – a colon cancer screening. Studies show that 95% of colorectal cancer can be prevented. However, only about 44% of the population actually do get screened. And at Harrison Memorial Hospital, an affiliate of the UK Markey Cancer Center Network, we think that's unacceptable.

Talk to your primary care physician about scheduling your colon cancer screening or call HMH at (859) 234-2300. It may just change your life and the life of someone you love.

She will also have a limited number of dolls and her wonderful UK outfits! Bring along your favorite little girl and let her help you choose what her dolly really needs! We will be open from 11-4 and will have refreshments to sustain you while you shop and check out the museum. Lots of new dolls and toys are on display as we near the holidays. Hope to see lots of you on the 19th! In January of 1911 the Ladies Home Journal announced that they would be offering a bisque doll to little girls who sold three subscriptions to the magazine. The doll would represent the "most beautiful doll" of the popular Lettie Lane paper doll printed each month in the magazine. Little girls could own the same doll that Lettie owned. The promotion was fabulously successful. Subsequent issues carried patterns to make clothing for your "Daisy" doll for every possible occasion. Margie Becker, friend of the Kentucky Doll and Toy Museum, has obtained two of these 100 year old dolls as well as all of the editions of the Journal containing patterns. She has made

"Daisy's" complete wardrobe including wonderful accessories. These will be on display at the Kentucky Doll and Toy Museum during December. To celebrate Margie's accomplishment, an opening reception will be held between 5-7 p.m. on Saturday, November 26. We hope you will be there to celebrate the occasion.

Operation Christmas Child National Collection Week November 14-21, 2011

Operation Christmas Child is a project of Samaritan's Purse, an international Christian relief organization headed by Franklin Graham that collects gift-filled shoe boxes and delivers them to children in need all over the world. Operation Christmas Child makes it possible for millions of children to experience God's love through these shoeboxes filled with gifts. They also provide opportunities for presenting the good news of Jesus Christ to these children and their families.

Individuals, churches, and other organizations in our community are invited and encouraged to participate in Operation Christmas Child this year by preparing shoeboxes. Information on preparing a shoebox can be found at <http://www.samaritanaspurse.org/index.php/OCC/index/>.

Locust Grove Baptist Church will serve as an official Operation Christmas Child Drop-Off Center again this year. Members in our community- groups or individuals- can drop off their shoeboxes of gifts during the week of November 14-21. Please see the schedule of days and times listed below. This is the fourth year that Locust Grove Baptist Church has served as a Drop-Off Center. In 2008, our community donated a total of 291 shoeboxes, in 2009 that number increased to 487, and last year 535 shoeboxes were collected. The goal this year is to collect at least 600 shoeboxes.

If you have additional questions, you may contact Bonnie Livingood at 289-2655 or e-mail Karen Mills at karenmills02@gmail.com.

Local judges participate in Judges College

Circuit Court Judge Jay Delaney and Family Court Judge Barbara L. Paul who serves Harrison, Nicholas, Pendleton and Robertson counties, participated in the 2011 Kentucky Circuit Judges College that took place Oct. 9-12 in Frankfort. The Administrative Office of the Courts provided the judicial education program for the state's Circuit Court and Family Court judges.

The judges received a case law update and attended sessions on domestic violence, digital evidence and investigation, social media's effect on the courts, court interpreters, and Kentucky Drug Court. The college also offered a course on e-Warrants, the electronic warrant management system that makes processing warrants more efficient for judges and law enforcement.

"Technology is dramatically improving the way courts do business and this college devoted several sessions to its impact on the justice system," said Circuit Court Judge Paul F. Isaacs, who serves Bourbon, Scott and Woodford counties and is the newly elected president of the Kentucky Association of Circuit Judges. "The Kentucky State Police demonstrated how they're investigating crimes that people commit through computers and other electronic de-VICES, several judges shared their experiences with social media and we received training on the e-Warrants system. These courses were great opportunities to learn about digital advances that apply to the work of Circuit Court."

Circuit judges also participated in courses on foreclosure conciliation programs in Kentucky, search and seizure, and the implementation of House Bill 463. HB 463 took effect in June 2011 and is the most comprehensive overhaul of Kentucky's penal code in more than 30 years. All three branches of government supported the legislation, which is designed to curb the cost of incarceration without compromising public safety. Circuit Court is the court of general jurisdiction that hears civil matters involving more than $5,000, capital offenses and felonies, divorces, adoptions, termination of parental rights, land dispute title cases and contested probate cases.

Sessions specifically for Family Court judges covered the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children, parental relocation, and child fatalities in Kentucky. The college also offered a course on handling cases involving children who have experienced traumatic events. Family Court is a division of Circuit Court and has primary jurisdiction in cases involving family issues, including divorces, adoption, child support, domestic violence and juvenile status offenses.

Administrative Office of the Courts

The AOC is the operations arm for the state court system and supports the activities of nearly 3,300 court system employees and 403 elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks. The AOC Division of Judicial Branch Education provides continuing education for the elected officials. As the fiscal agent for the state court system, the AOC also executes the Judicial Branch budget.

THOUGHTS FROM THE PASTOR'S STUDY

Dr. Arthur DeYoung
Carlisle Presbyterian Church

It is a season to ask, "What are you thankful for?" At the dinner table on Thanksgiving, some people will offer thanks expressed in rushed words with little thought, while others will offer well-crafted prayers of deep personal expression. While our thanksgiving observance will be expressive of our culture's traditions, other cultures offer their thanks in different ways, and especially for different foods.

Regardless of what we eat, or what we do, we express thanks for what we have been given. The following are some of the prayers which are offered by people around the world as they say, "thank you" for what they have received.

O most merciful God who provides food for the body and soul, you have kindly granted what is spread before us. We thank you. Bless the loving hands that prepared this meal and us who are to enjoy it, please. Homage, homage, homage to thee! (India)

O God, bless this food we are about to receive. Give bread to those who hunger, and give hunger for justice to those who have no bread. (Nicaragua)

Heaven, Please make the rain fall, so I have water to drink, so I may plow my rice field, so I may have my bowl of rice, and my fish in great slices. (Vietnam)

Hail, hail, hail. May happiness come. May meat come. May corn come. Just as the farmers work, and look forward to the reaping, so may we sit again as we are sitting now. (Ghana)

O you who believe! Eat of the good things that we have provided for you, and be grateful to Allah. It is he you worship. (Islamic)

Lord, behold our family here assembled. We thank you for this place in which we dwell, for the love that unites us, for the peace accorded us this day, for the hope with which we expect the morrow; for the health, the work, the food and the bright skies that make our lives delightful; for our friends in all parts of the Earth. (Robert Louis Stevenson)

All life is your own, all fruits of the earth are fruits of your womb, your union, your dance. Lady and Lord, we thank you for blessings and abundance. Join with us, feast with us, enjoy with us! Blessed be. (Native American)

Oh, the Lord is good to me, and so I thank the Lord for giving me the things I need, the sun, and the rain and the apple seed. The Lord is good to me. ("Johnny Appleseed prayer")

Let us in peace eat the food that God has provided for us. Praise be to God for all his gifts. (Armenia)

God is great! God is good! Let us thank him for our food. Amen! (traditional children's prayer).

Turkey talk

When November rolls around, turkey becomes more than just another option at the deli counter. For some, turkey becomes an obsession around this time of year, with ponderings just how much to buy, how to cook it, and the ways leftovers can be turned into delicious treats. Tom Turkey certainly takes on icon status, and that's understandable considering the turkey was once suggested as the national bird of the U.S. (the bald eagle won, however). Turkey is tasty, and it's more than just a Thanksgiving menu item. Check out these other facts about turkey.

* Wild turkeys were nearly wiped out in North America by 1940. It took the efforts of preservationists to rekindle the numbers of wild turkeys out there.

* Turkeys do more than gobble. They have been known to make up to 20 distinct vocalizations, according to animal experts.

* People are not the only ones getting fatter. Turkeys are getting larger, too. The weight of the average turkey has increased 57 percent, says the USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service. Most birds now average 28 pounds.

* U.S. federal regulations prohibit the use of hormones in turkey feed.

* The best time to see a wild turkey is on a warm clear day or in a light rain.

* Domesticated turkeys do not fly but the wild ones can. They spend their nights in trees, flying to roosts around sunset.

* Turkeys are a billion-dollar industry. Annual totals are around $3.6 billion and the companies Jennie-

Observance of Veteran's Day

Veterans Day is intended to honor and thank all military personnel who served the United States in all wars, particularly living veterans. It is marked by parades and church services and in many places the American flag is hung at half mast. A period of silence lasting two minutes may be held at 11am. Some schools are closed on Veterans Day, while others do not close, but choose to mark the occasion with special assemblies or other activities.

Veterans Day is officially observed on November 11. However, if it falls on a week day, many communities hold their celebrations on the weekend closest to this date. This is to enable more people to attend and participate in the events. Federal Government offices are closed on November 11. If Veterans Day falls on a Saturday, they are closed on Friday November 10. If Veterans Day falls on a Sunday, they are closed on Monday November 12. State and local governments, schools and non-governmental businesses are not required to close and may decide to remain open or closed. Public transit systems may follow a regular or holiday schedule.

History

On the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of 1918 an armistice between Germany and the Allied nations came into effect. On November 11, 1919, Armistice Day was commemorated for the first time. In 1919, President Wilson proclaimed the day should be "filled with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory". There were plans for parades, public meetings and a brief suspension of business activities at 11am.

In 1926, the United States Congress officially recognized the end of World War

I and declared that the anniversary of the armistice should be commemorated with prayer and thanksgiving. The Congress also requested that the president should "issue a proclamation calling upon the officials to display the flag of the United States on all Government buildings on November 11 and inviting the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, or other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies of friendly relations with all other peoples."

An Act (52 Stat. 351; 5 U. S. Code, Sec. 87a) was approved on May 13, 1938, which made November 11 in each year a legal holiday, known as Armistice Day. This day was originally intended to honor veterans of World War I. A few years later, World War II required the largest mobilization of service men in the history of the United States and the American forces fought in Korea. In 1954, the veterans service organizations urged Congress to change the word "Armistice" to "Veterans". Congress approved this change and on June 1, 1954, November 11 became a day to honor all American veterans, where ever and whenever they had served.

In 1968 the Uniforms Holiday Bill (Public Law 90-363 (82 Stat. 250)) made an attempt to move Veterans Day to the fourth Monday of October. The bill took effect in 1971. However, this caused a lot of confusion as many states disagreed with this decision and continued to hold Veterans Day activities on November 11. In 1975, President Gerald R. Ford signed Public Law 94-97 (89 Stat. 479), which stated that Veterans Day would again be observed on November 11 from 1978 onwards. Veterans Day is still observed on November 11.

VETERANS DAY, 2011 BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA A PROCLAMATION

Today, our Nation comes together to honor our veterans and commemorate the legacy of profound service and sacrifice they have upheld in pursuit of a more perfect Union. Through their steadfast defense of America's ideals, our service members have ensured our country still stands strong, our founding principles still shine, and nations around the world know the blessings of freedom. As we offer our sincere appreciation and respect to our veterans, to their families, to those who are still in harm's way, and to those we have laid to rest, let us rededicate ourselves to serving them as well as they have served the United States of America.

Our men and women in uniform are bearers of a proud military tradition that has been dutifully passed forward—from generation to generation—for more than two centuries. In times of war and peace alike, our veterans have served with courage and distinction in the face of tremendous adversity, demonstrating an unfaltering commitment to America and our people. Many have made the ultimate sacrifice to preserve the country they loved. The selflessness of our service members is unmatched, and they remind us that there are few things more fundamentally American than doing our utmost to make a difference in the lives of others.

Just as our veterans stood watch on freedom's frontier, so have they safeguarded the prosperity of our Nation in our neighborhoods, our businesses, and our homes. As teachers and engineers, doctors and parents, these patriots have made contributions to civilian life that serve as a testament to their dedication to the welfare of our country. We owe them a debt of honor, and it is our moral obligation to ensure they receive our support for as long as they live as proud veterans of the United States Armed Forces. This year, as our troops in Iraq complete their mission, we will honor them and all who serve by working tirelessly to give them the care, the benefits, and the opportunities they have earned.

On Veterans Day, we pay tribute to our veterans, to the fallen, and to their families. To honor their contributions to our Nation, let us strive with renewed determination to keep the promises we have made to all who have answered our country's call. As we fulfill our obligations to them, we keep faith with the patriots who have risked their lives to preserve our Union, and with the ideals of service and sacrifice upon which our Republic was founded.

With respect for and in recognition of the contributions our service members have made to the cause of peace and freedom around the world, the Congress has provided (5 U.S.C. 6103(a)) that November 11 of each year shall be set aside as a legal public holiday to honor our Nation's veterans.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, BARACK OBAMA, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim November 11, 2011, as Veterans Day. I encourage all Americans to recognize the valor and sacrifice of our veterans through appropriate public ceremonies and private prayers. I call upon Federal, State, and local officials to display the flag of the United States and to participate in patriotic activities in their communities. I call on all Americans, including civic and fraternal organizations, places of worship, schools, and communities to support this day with commemorative expressions and programs.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this third day of November, in the year of our Lord two thousand eleven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and thirty-sixth.

BARACK OBAMA

Did You Know???

President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed a national holiday called Armistice Day to take place on November 11, 1919 and annually thereafter to commemorate the signing of the armistice treaty that ended World War I. The holiday served to honor those who served and lost their lives in the war. However, it wasn't until 34 years later when a Kansas shoe store owner proposed the holiday should be expanded to remember all veterans, not just those of World War I.

Alfred King, a shoe store owner in Emporia, Kansas, began a campaign to turn Armistice Day into "All" Veterans Day. His town's Chamber of Commerce got involved and participated in the cause, urging all business owners to shut down on November 11 to honor veterans.

U.S. Representative Ed Rees, also of Emporia, helped push a bill through Congress, which President Dwight Eisenhower later signed into law on May 26, 1954. Roughly one week later "Armistice" was changed to "Veterans" and the holiday has honored all veterans ever since.

O Turkey Store, Cargill Value Added Meats and Butterball, LLC are industry leaders.

* At least one turkey will not make it to Thanksgiving dinner this year. That's because every year the President pardons one turkey to go on and live to see another November. All bets are off for next year, though.

* Only male turkeys display the ruffled feathers, fanlike tail, bare head, and bright beard commonly associated with these birds.

* Adult males are known as toms, young males as jakes, and all females as hens.

* Many people blame 'ol Tom Turkey for making them drowsy after the Thanksgiving meal. The truth is that other foods on the Thanksgiving table may have as much or even more of the amino acid L-tryptophan that's linked to sleepiness. Plus, you need carbohydrates to work in concert with the tryptophan for it to reach the brain and produce the sleepy effects.

CRIT LUALLEN
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Honorable Kenneth C. Lyons, Nicholas County Judge/Executive
The Honorable Doug Fryman, Nicholas County Clerk
Members of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the County Clerk of Nicholas County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2010. This financial statement is the responsibility of the County Clerk. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky, and the Audit Guide for County Fiscal Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As described in Note 1, the County Clerk's office prepares the financial statement on a regulatory basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the laws of Kentucky, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Clerk for the year ended December 31, 2010, in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated September 19, 2011 on our consideration of the Nicholas County Clerk's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the County Clerk and Fiscal Court of Nicholas County, Kentucky, and the Commonwealth of Kentucky and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Respectfully submitted,

Crit Luallen

DNA concerns expressed for murder trial

By Charles Mattox
KYNewsGroup
charles@kynewsgroup.com

Prosecutors and defense attorneys discussed DNA testing protocols Friday, Nov. 4 in Fleming Circuit Court that may acquit or condemn three men to death for the alleged 2005 murder of a Goddard couple.

Ronald Fairchild, 43, Rodney Dodson, 38, and Jason Jackson, 34, remain lodged in area jails on murder, burglary and theft, charges.

The trio was arrested in Ohio in May, nearly six years to the day after Donald Walker 43, and Marlene Mauk 23, were found after being gunned down in their Routt Road home, near Goddard.

Police say Fairchild, Dodson and Jackson, are responsible for shooting Mauk and Walker a dozen times, with nearly every shot being fired from behind, according to autopsy reports of both.

In September, Special Judge, Honorable Lewis Nicholls, set a May 2012 murder trial for the three men.

Amid extremely high security, the trio appeared in court at 1 p.m. Nov. 4, for a pre-trial conference.

Dodson remained in the courtroom, and Jackson and Fairchild were escorted back out of the room when it was noted that Fairchild's attorney Paul Cox had not arrived and was in route from a court appearance in another county.

Cox arrived at 1:20 and immediately conferred with Amanda Mullins, attorney for Dodson, and Aaron Curran, attorney for Jackson.

Jackson and Fairchild re-entered the courtroom soon afterward and the three alleged murderers and their attorneys stood before Judge Nicholls. They were joined by Commonwealth Attorney Kathryn Hendrickson and Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Gary Adkins.

Nicholls discussed Voire Dire questioning formats and the process that would be used to select or disallow jurors for the trial.

Cox then breached the topic of special DNA testing he wanted a laboratory in Ohio to conduct, regarding the evidence taken at the crime scene.

According to discussion, that evidence was "12 items," including six shell casings, a pack of Marlboro cigarettes, and a lock and hasp, along with other items.

"We have the right to do our own testing," Cox said after Hendrickson said the KSP labs were capable of providing all the testing needed.

Cox specifically expressed a concern about the "consumption" of the DNA on collected evidence.

"Consumption is always a concern," he said later. "That's when the DNA gets used up, like when it is handled."

Judge Nicholls set a Dec. 7 hearing date to listen to arguments regarding the DNA testing and seemed inclined to let all "experts" that would be involved in the case to be present when the DNA testing was conducted.

Details regarding competency and possible additional motions which bring into question the mental state of the accused will also be discussed in December.

Aside from clarifying his concerns about DNA consumption, Cox declined additional comments to the public. Stating, "There will be plenty of time for that in the future."

Curran previously said that Jackson was not guilty of murder.

He added to that statement after Friday's court appearance

"I don't even think he even fired a shot," Curran said.

Beware of these holiday shopping traps

The holiday season is rife with deals on items that range from the very small to the very large. But as enticing as holiday deals can be, not all of them will benefit the consumer in the long run. When shopping this holiday season, consumers should be mindful of the following holiday shopping traps.

* Extended warranties. On the surface, service plans are in a consumer's best interest. However, many service plans cover repairs that are already offered by a product's standard warranty. Retailers tend to push extended warranties because they're very retailer-friendly, often set up so retailers keep as much as or even more than 50 percent of the warranty cost. What's more, data from Consumer Reports indicates that products rarely break within the extended-warranty coverage, meaning consumers who purchase extended warranties truly are paying for nothing in many cases.

* Restocking fees. Gifts are often returned during the holidays, and many retailers insist items can be returned and fully reimbursed if done within a specific window of time after purchase. However, restocking fees can challenge that claim. Electronics, for example, are often subject to restocking fees, which means consumers will have to pay a fee if they return an item that is not in its factory-sealed box. These fees can be substantial, as some retailers' stocking fees are as much as 25 percent.

* Varying return policies. Some retailers change their return policies depending on where the item was purchased. For instance, in-store purchases might be subject to different return policies than items purchased on the retailer's Web site. This is especially difficult during the holidays, when people are buying for family and friends who don't necessarily live near the store where the item was purchased. Before buying, always acclimate yourself with the return policy, including an differences between the in-store and online return policies.

Christmas Bazaar held at Nicholas County Hospital that they have a surprise if they are attacked. He listed skunks and bees in this category. He also showed them how some animals such as the milk snake can be an imposter. The milk snake's colors match that of a coral snake and they mimic the venomous snake so as not to be attacked themselves. He went on to explain how that only works in areas where there are coral snakes and showed how a milk snake around here is not brightly colored but blends in with its surroundings.

walks around the bottom of water rather than swims because the webbing in its feet aren't really prepared well for swimming.

He taught the students about other tricks animals use as well. One of his examples was a snapping turtle. Through video the students were able to see how a snapping turtle uses its tongue to mimic a worm, and as a fish comes over to eat the worm, the turtle is the one fed instead.

There were many other things discussed that would not only interest the students but keep them interested in science. Reynolds showed them how a frog actually uses its eyes to help it swallow, and discussed the food web and the food chain with them, comparing to show them the difference.

Reynolds also explained how something like a pesticide could wreck and entire ecosystem if it was to get into the water. He explained how it could kill the invertebrates which the animals higher up the food chain fed on. He explained the chain reaction that could destroy the entire ecosystem if just one chain was removed from the system.

All in all the students sat with their eyes glued to the screen, the different animals that Mr. Reynolds brought and their ears picking up on his every word. Enjoying the interactive aspect of science and teaching them in ways that the normal classroom can't.

"I couldn't be happier with leadership from my field commanders and the other upper classmen," Hale said. "They've learned that what's important is knowing they did everything they could to make things the best they can, and leaving the young members with the ability to carry on. That builds their character and character is something they keep for a lifetime."

The NC band members will now be switching gears in preparation for All District and All State try outs coming up within the next two weeks, and then moving into Christmas concert preparations and the Winter Guard and Winter Drumline season.

Brad Reynolds from Real Science Programs is shown above with a milk snake for the students of NCES to see. Mr. Reynolds brought many reptiles, a turtle and many other creatures for the students to observe as he taught them about science.

Correction

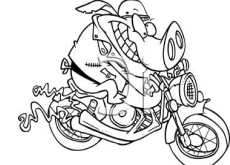

In last week's Carlisle Mercury it was written in the Fiscal Court approves Soil Conservation District funding story that the Rescue Squad would no longer cover farming accidents, fire/water recovery or people who are trapped. The Rescue Squad will continue to provide water recovery and it should have read the Rescue Squad will no longer cover farming accidents, fire, or people who are trapped. We apologize for this mistake.
