Bluejackets Classic set for October 8

By Elizabeth McCarty KYNewsGroup elizabeth@kynewsgroup.com

Oct. 8, 15 high school marching bands from across the state will gather at Nicholas County High School for the 1st Bluejackets Classic Marching Band Competition.

The event is slated to be one of the biggest ever to be held on school grounds with the potential of having 2,500 to 3,000 performers, directors, parents and spectators on campus at any one given time.

In a special meeting held Monday afternoon, with high school administration, law enforcement officials, community volunteers and band booster President, Mike Haney all present, high school principal, Marty Feltner said the upcoming band competition is going to be a major event.

"We need to get our heads together to get things going smoothly," Feltner said.

Everything from parking and shuttles to concessions and rain plans were discussed at length to better plan for the staff of volunteers that is going to be needed for the day.

The majority of spectator parking is going to be off site at three locations: the old Jockey building, the National Guard Armory and the West End Ballpark. Shuttling will be available to all spectators who are parked in these off site locations.

This parking scheme will allow for the competing bands to have their equipment trailers on site.

Concessions will be available to everyone who attends the competition.

boosters plan on utilizing multiple areas to control the demand for food. Various things will be offered including: hamburgers, hotdogs, tenderloin sandwiches, nachos and even a mid-day fish fry. Rotary Club members are volunteering their time to work the front admissions gate for spectator entry, and law enforcement officials will be present throughout the day.

Volunteers are still needed for jobs that vary from working a concession booth, to guarding an entryway, or even selling t-shirts.

Haney said, "This could be the biggest event this school has ever seen."

If you are interested in volunteering to help at the Bluejackets Classic please call Mike Haney at 859-473-0701 or email him at Haney said the band mhaney@clayingels.com.

HILLBILLY COMMUNION OF DAD'S YOUNGEST SON

From the country song "Hillbilly Bone" performed by Blake Shelton and Trace Adkins and written by Luke Robert Laird and Craig Michael Wiseman.

Well, my punk peregrine falcon is back in the neighborhood, dear reader.

I call him a punk because he has this uncanny ability to spot me in my back yard just as dusk falls and then he swoops low toward me from the rear and buzzes by my head and flies straight away from me.

Sometimes he lets out a shrill cry just before he

Oh yeah, he's a punk about it.

He likes his picture taken it seems, because Friday night I found him circling the back yard and snapped a few shots of him and waved. I wasn't sure at first if it was him but after he made a few closer circles I realized it was my old buddy that I often photographed last winter and this spring.

He flew away toward Wallingford and I lost track of him.

It was a few minutes later after I was focusing on the grill when he made his dive bombing run at my head and just about made me come unglued. He's done it about 50 times in the past year. I gave him a grim chuckled after he flew away and instantly thought of my fa-

"Yeah, well just be glad my old man ain't here, Punk," I called to my feathered friend as he tilted his wings and drifted further away. "Yeah, you wouldn't be pulling that trick if dad was still around."

After the wildlife laws changed and after my constant efforts, dad finally, though reluctantly, quit killing chicken hawks, owls and falcons in the years before his death in 2001.

He may have actually "dusted the feathers" off of an eagle or two somewhere down the line.

It's nothing I'm proud of, but it's the truth.

He was an incredible marksman with a 30-30 rifle, shotgun or smaller caliber rifle;-he preferred a .22 with a scope.

I was actually his accomplice for many of those dirty deeds in the 1970s.

My job was to be the spotter of all animals great and small as he drove along the country roads of Fleming, Nicholas and Bath County.

From my early adolescent years into my mid teens I spent an incredible amount of time in the woods and along the streams with my father.

My earliest memories include sitting astride his shoulder as he waded Allison Creek while turtle hunting. It really wasn't until that one winter over a decade later, around 1976 when dad caught all of the foxes and minks on his trap line that I realized he wasn't your average woodsman.

I began to watch him a little closer after that and Dad's main goal of going to the woods and streams wasn't rest and relaxation, but rather to put food on the table and money in the bank.

It was serious business for him and thus for me I learned early that dad didn't talk much in the woods and didn't believe in making noise either. "Shut up and keep up" was a phrase I embraced early in life and it was truly astonishing the things we observed together in the woods and along the streams of northeastern Kentucky. Dad made more money from his trap line in about four months than he did at his job at Brownings Factory that same year and I know who was with him every step of the way, mostly as his pack mule, but an observant pack mule to be time afterward in Korea, or just for his remarkable success in the woods, but it was almost like he needed the woods and the streams and he couldn't go very long without spending time there.

I don't guess he ever lived very far from Fleming Creek in his adult life.

The more I've thought about it, the more I believe the woods were like his church and his hunting and fishing expeditions were liken to some sort of hillbilly communion.

I don't use the term hillbilly as a slur, but rather with the respect any true hillbilly knows should accompany the handle. I have those same natural hillbilly inclinations and though I focus primarily on fishing, I'm starting to look at the freezer and my butchering tools a little more closely as winter approaches.

I like butchering deer as it involves me with a direct connection to thousands of years of Native American activities which took place on this very soil of ours.

es amid the devastation of Slow grilled tenderloin with post-war Japan or his grim that secret marinating process, that's what I'm talking about.

Time spent in the great outdoors was very fulfilling for my father.

And it is very fulfilling to his youngest son.

Bread of Life

Courage comes from Faith

Joshua 1:9 Be strong and of good courage: be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

Courage comes from trusting God. It cant be mentally drummed up. It comes from believing what God says regardless of what the circumstances look like. Courage, comes from faith! Where does discourage-

Once you begin to realize who you are and what you've been given by the power of God, you'll quit letting the devil run all over you. God didn't suggest that you be strong and courages. That is his command! If you've been suffering through some hard times lately, wake up to the

You look over the bless-His Spirit and establish the ings completely. As a result you end up suffering through situations in your life that should have you rejoicing.

Bond's Broadcast Fondest Memories

I never pretend not to be biased in my loyalty to the Reds, Bengals and my high school Russell.

Saturday night the Cincinnati Reds and the world of baseball officially honored Reds No. 5, Johnny Bench, again. There was a statue of him unveiled in Cincinnati before a crowd of thousands of people. This is in addition to honoring him by retiring his number.

Johnny Lee Bench, from Binger, Okla., was valedictorian of his high school class, and spent his entire career with the Reds' organization.

Without a doubt Bench is the greatest catcher to ever play the game and he deserved the honor.

While he has been recognized among some of the greatest with induction into the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., he will be a Reds' favorite for years

Bench, speaking before the game, said he considered the statue the biggest honor of his life.

Sparky Anderson said during the 1976 World Series, "Don't embarrass any other catcher by trying to compare them to Johnny Bench.'

I can say with confidence he had incredible hands. I met him in the early 1970s.

It was great to see former teammates Doug Flynn, Tommy Helms, Jim O'toole, George Foster, Caesar Geronimo, Dave Concepcion, and Joe Morgan. Ken Griffey was missing from the collection along with Tony Perez.

He became a Red in 1965 and ended his career in 1983. In his last game as a Red he was behind the plate and hit a home run to electrify the crowd.

Sept. 17, 2011 was the day they honored ${\rm him}-23{\rm\ years}$ to the day of his last game and his 389th home run.

The Reds honored bench and the statue will welcome Reds' fans for decades to

They also named a portion of Broadway, Johnny Bench Way, in honor of the Reds' signal caller. "The Big Red Machine, stood for all," Bench told the thousands on hand. He said that all across the nation he meets people who can name all of the starters from the Big Red Machine era. I can remember – can you? I have been a lucky man in many ways. But for purposes here I am talking about baseball. I have been able to meet my heroes from the sport. I even got to play against my favorite all-time Reds' pitcher, Don Gullett, back in Babe Ruth baseball

I have met Sparky Anderson, rest his soul as well as my all-time favorite as a young kid, the late Vada Pinson. I have gotten to meet Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and the old left-hander, Joe Nuxhall.

I had a meal with Marty Brennaman and my favorite first baseman Gordy Coleman.

In 1975 I had dinner with Sparky at a meeting in Lexington. He sat down at my table in the Lexington Continental Inn. We chatted for more than an hour and he rejoined the table after he spoke of his team and the chances for the Reds to take the World Series that sea-

Of course they did. Not only did they do it that year but the following year as well and solidified their place in annuals as one of the greatest players in the history of baseball and certainly in Cincinnati.

In 1976, the Reds did what no other team had done since the League Championship Series began in 1969 ... and what no other team has done since: gone undefeated in the postseason.

The '76 Reds had the greatest starting eight of

In 1976, seven of the eight Reds starters made the National League All-Starteam. The one who didn't -- centerfielder Cesar Geronimo -- hit .307 and won his third straight Gold Glove.

I can truly say I was excited every time I found my way to Riverfront Stadium to watch those teams, 1973, 74, 75, 76.

There are many who have never had a chance to go see the Reds in person and I am quick at acknowledge some could care less but for those who love the game the Reds of that time were something to behold.

As for Bench-I have seen a lot of great catchers - it's not likely there will be very many who can be matched against him.

I know they'll come a day when he is only a memory but for this 60-year-old, he will always be the greatest.

And so, for another week, thanks and thirBy Melissa Mitchell KyNewsGroup melissa@kynewsgroup.com

Well with the fall coming around I think of pretty warm colors and the fun that the children have at school. I remember when the girls where in kindergarten about going to the pumpkin patches, making apple cider and had projects with the leaves to make. Those are some things that are very memorable, I went to the pumpkin patch both times with the girls, and I will say that it is a treat for the adults as well as the children. The class went to the pumpkin patch in Georgetown, they had a corn maze to go through, pick their favorite pumpkin, could paint on it, and go the gift shop and take a hay- my got to go with them and

Many of the kids had a good time, and I definitely know that the girls had a good time, they laughed played and ran that day with so much laughter.

We still have some of their items as well as pictures that we look back on to remember those good ole times.

The kids this year will probably be going to the same pumpkin patch and I encourage every parent that if you have the opportunity to go with your child to do so. You will enjoy it, and will cherish the memories with your child. Those little memories are ones that vour child will never forget. I know that my two girls remember that little trip and they love the fact that mom-cherish that memory with them as well.

It is something that I would like to be able to take them back there one day just for a fun field day with the family.

Watching those kids with their pumpkins and enjoying the corn maze, is a very memorable time. There are adults that enjoy it as much as the little ones. There are several pumpkin patches that you can go to, I know of the two sisters pumpkin patch, double stink pumpkin patch and the bi water pumpkin patch. So on one fall afternoon, take a ride with the family to enjoy a day at the patch.

Until next time keep those memories rolling.

Greetings from Nevada! I hope you are all having a great week.

What a big boy I have! I had to take Isaiah to the doctor last week for his 4month shots. He is now 15 pounds 10 ounces and 25.5 ınches long. He ıs growıng a little too fast for my liking if I'm to be quite honest.

Although, I do love the changes I see in him every day. He is so smiley. He wakes up happy and for the past four nights he has slept all the way through the night. And as a Momma who likes her sleep, I'm definitely not complaining about that.

He turns over from his back to his belly so he can get himself more comfortable sometimes. Once he masters turning over the other way, we will be in big trouble. He is a scooter and already scoots all over the living room floor on his back. I tell you, I turn my back for just a couple minutes and he is across the floor. I just can't believe how active he already is. I have a feeling I'm definitely going to need a new pair of running shoes in just a few short months.

Antonio is excelling at soccer. I don't know a whole lot about the sport, I never played it and honestly never watched it much. I know the object of the game, put the ball through the net, but other than that, I'm pretty much clueless. Thankful-

Bluejacket band claims Class A win

By Elizabeth McCarty Rogers Clark won an award KYNewsGroup

elizabeth@kynewsgroup.com In its second week of competition, the NC Bluejack-ets band did not have far to This week the group was in competition among 15 other bands at the Montgomery County Marching Invitational in Mt. Sterling. In preliminary competition, the NC band was third to perform in class A; a class made of 3 competitors. The other competing classes, AA through AAAAA, were all represented by at least two bands. It was a well-rounded competition, offering a little bit from every class size. In competition this week, the NC marching band stepped up its performance and added a section of their closer, Rocky Point Holiday, to their show "He loves me, he loves me not.'

According to NC percussion instructor, Joey Wagoner, there is still more to

"They added some of the closer to the field this week, but they are still working on it, and there is more to come," Wagoner said.

At preliminary awards, NC band won 1st place in class A. Rounding out class Lexington Christian Academy won awards for best color guard, best percussion and 2nd place; and Lee County was awarded 3rd place.

In class AA, Russell won an award for best percussion and 1st place. Lewis County won an award for best color guard and 2nd place; Powell County was awarded 3rd place, and Morgan County came in 4th place.

In class AAA, Bourbon County swept its class receiving awards for best color guard, best percussion and the 1st place trophy. Estill County won 2nd place; Greenup County won 3rd place; and Holmes came in 4th place.

In class AAAA, Anderson County swept its class receiving awards for best color guard, best percussion and the 1st place trophy. East for best color guard and the 1st place trophy. Henry Clay won best percussion and 2nd place; and Bryan Station won 3rd place.

After preliminary awards, the top 10 scoring bands were announced to move on to finals competition later in the evening. In random order they were: Henry Clay, East Jessamine, Bourbon County, George Rogers Clark, Russell, Bryan Station, Estill County, Anderson County, Lewis County and Powell County.

Nicholas County did not make the top 10 band, and therefore did not advance to finals for the evening performances.

NC band director, Debbie Hale, says this competition has been a learning experience for her students and they will take a big lesson away from it.

"Give us lemons, and we will make lemonade. You learn from every experience and what we learned from this one is that you aren't guaranteed anything. If you want it, it's up to you to do what it takes to get it," Hale

The NC band will be back on the practice field this week "making lemonade" and pushing toward their state finals goal with hard work and determination. The group will be back in competition next Saturday, September 24, at Mason County High School in Maysville. Preliminary performance time is set for 12:30 p.m.

Third from left, Field Commanders Max Scalf and Josie Stamper, along with other band representatives await preliminary awards. Nicholas County was awarded 1st place in Class A for the second consecutive week.

Paris U Nicholas 56,

By Wade Holland KYNewsGroup

If the rest of Class A football hasn't taken notice of the Nicholas County Bluejackets by now, they don't have much choice after Friday's homecoming win.

Behind 320 yards rushing and five touchdowns from senior tailback Caleb Pope, Nicholas Co. celebrated its homecoming with a 56-0 victory over border-rival Paris, becoming the state's highest scoring team in the process.

Nicholas Co., which has outscored its opponents 114-8 in the past two weeks, leads Kentucky's Class A teams with 226 points through five games. Only two others have topped the 200-point plateau, Louisville Holy Cross with 205 and Kentucky Country Day with 200.

With his second 300-yard performance in the last three weeks, Caleb Pope remains Kentucky's Class A leading rusher and scorer with 1,334 yards and 19 touchdowns. Nobody is a close second.

But despite all his team has accomplished through the first half of the season, Nicholas County

Robert Hopkins says it's no the game away in the first time to let up, noting that his team still has a long way to go to get where it needs to be. While winning by 50 points each of the past two weeks is nice, it doesn't mean his team is as dominate as it appears, said the Nicholas Co. coach.

"We won't know how well we played tonight until after we watch the film," said Hopkins immediately after the win over Paris. "Last week we thought we played pretty well against Berea, but after watching the film, it was probably the worst game we played all year. "There was a little more hitting going on tonight. We were more physical than we have been and I'm happy about that," Hopkins continued. "But one thing's for sure, our kickoff team was not very good tonight. We gave up some big plays. We've got a lot of young guys out there on the kickoff team trying to give them a chance and they continue to get better. But tonight we were not as good as we expected to be.

Just as it has done nearly all season, Nicholas Co. came out of the locker room quarter.

Caleb Pope got the scoring started for the Bluejackets on the second play from scrimmage when he broke free for a 39-yard touchdown run just 75 seconds into the game. Charby Pope ran the ball in on the two-point conversion to make it 8-0.

After holding Paris to only one first down on its opening possession, Nicholas Co. was at it again when Caleb Pope scampered 53 yards for a touchdown just one play after a 48-yard touchdown run by Charby Pope was called back due to a holding penalty. Austin Allison carried the ball into the end zone on the two-point conversion to put his team

Paris was four-and-out on its next possession, and Nicholas Co.'s offense was right back at it, needing only six plays to reach the end zone on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Charby Pope to Zack Howard, staking the Bluejackets to a 22-0 lead, which they continued to hold at the end of the first

On it's first play from scrimmage in the second on fire and jumped on top quarter, Nicholas Co. extend-Coach early, pretty much putting ed its lead to 28-0 when Ca-

Paris defense, untouched, for an 88-yard touchdown run. The two-point conversion pass was no good.

Nicholas Co.'s next possession ended with an interception, but it was the only negative the rest of the half as the Bluejackets scored touchdowns on their next two possessions. Caleb Pope scored on a 19-yard run with 2:52 left in the half to put his team up 36-0 with a successful two-point conversion run by John Lee Allison.

Getting the ball back with less than a minute remaining in the half, Nicholas Co.'s quick-strike offense was at it again when Charby Pope connected with Zack Howard on a 53-yard touchdown pass to give his team a 42-0 advantage heading into the locker room.

Nicholas Co. received the second half kickoff and needed only two and a half minutes to score when Caleb Pope broke free for a 17 yard touchdown run, followed by a successful two-point conversion run by John Lee Allison to put the Bluejackets up 50-0 and kicking the ing the clock to run non-stop for the rest of the game. With the running clock, Nicholas Co. got only two possessions over the final 22 minutes of the game. The first possession ended in a 46-yard touchdown run by Finn Brutsman to put Nicholas Co. up 56-0. The other Bluejackets' possession was still on-going when the game's final horn sounded.

Anytime you win 56-0, it's a success. But for Nicholas Co., the game took its toll with at least two of the team's starters suffering serious injuries in the game. Running back Austin Allison, the team's second leading rusher, suffered what is believed to be a dislocated shoulder, which would likely keep him out for several weeks if not for the remainder of the season, while Devin Johnson suffered a severe ankle injury that will need x-rays before the severity of the injury is known.

With a bye week, Nicholas Co. will work on getting healthy and work on the little things before returning to action on Sept. 30 at Lud-leb Pope out-ran the entire mercy rule into effect, allow- low. Hopkins says there is no chance his team will install anything new during the bye weeks.

> "We'll be working on our fundamentals," said Hopkins of his plans for the twoweek break between games. "We're not going to be putting anything new into our game or anything like that, we're just going to work on the fundamentals and hope to be a stronger team when we get back.'

Schools ranked 1A-5A will perform and be judged in their class in preliminary competition before the field will be narrowed to the top 10 scored bands for finals competition.

Add up the numbers ladies and gentlemen! Parents from bands with 15 students, up to parents with bands with 250 students will be in out beautiful county from early Saturday morning until nearly midnight and have spare time between their child's performances to visit our shops and establishments.

I am hoping that you are now saying to yourselves, "How can we help?" There are many ways that all members of the communi-

Monday was not an ideal day for playing golf. Rain consistently drizzled throughout the afternoon and overcast clouds made lighting conditions difficult, but the Eastern Kentucky Conference Boys' Golf Championship went ahead as scheduled at the Eagle Trace Golf Course in Morehead.

Nicholas County sophomore Cameron Fryman was his team's lone qualifier at the event and shot a nine-hole 49 to finish in a three-way tie for 31st.

"The weather conditions were not ideal, (but) Cameron had to play through it like everybody else. The course was in good shape,' Nicholas County coach Phil French said. "It was good ex-

THOUGHTS FROM THE PASTOR'S STUDY

Rocky Wallace Pastor, Carlisle United Methodist Church

Doctrinal Fidelity and Discernment in the Church

In today's 21st Century culture of diversity, freedom of thought, and celebration of mankind's choice to live in unchained, democratic societies, the church plays a vital role in pointing to God's timeless boundaries that do indeed set people free—but in no shape or form grant permission to re-define moral parameters.

The danger lies not in understanding God, but instead in pushing His laws and principles to the outer fringe in our quest to be our own god-our ultimate rebuking of the one true God's call for obedience, and thus living out His plan for our

We should not be surprised at our inability to sort out right from wrong, as even elementary moral principles confuse us. From abortion, to human trafficking, to substance abuse, to pornography and other sexual immorality, to the abuse of the less fortunate and the allowing of genocide while we turn our eyes away, mankind's current condition is no different than that of Adam and Eve when they disobeyed God in the garden of Eden. Our rebellious nature continues to rage inside us, a constant reminder of our humanness—our bent to harm self and others, and to turn our backs on our Heav-contradictory teaching, and men and women, of all ages, rituals and practices that confused followers of Christ. The Apostle Paul spent much time in his epistles admonishing local churches to stay true to the teachings of Christ, and to refrain from immorality, twisted interpretations of how to worship, and other deeds of selfdeception.

Why should we be surprised that even the earliest Christians strayed so easily? Did not Jesus' own people, the Jewish leaders of His generation, turn on Him when He pointed away from their man-made legalism, and pointed followers toward the Truth?

And today, some call our current state of affairs in this country the post-Christian era. The Christian movement here, in the land that for two hundred years stood as the beacon of hope to the world, is in danger of becoming much less relevant than at any other time in our nation's rich history. And strange as it may seem, Islam, atheism, agnosticism, and various forms of the occult are on the rise-peaking the interest of younger generations who have not been grounded in the Chris-

And we, the church, has it, just as God ordained when He sent His Son, and the Holy Spirit. TAXES FOR GENERAL MUNICIPAL PURPOSES FOR THE FISCAL

YEAR OF 2011/2012 ON REAL ESTATE WITHIN THE TAXING JU-RISDICTION OF THE CITY OF CARLISLE SHALL BE THE RATE OF $0.185 PER ONE HUNDRED ($100.00) DOLLARS OF ASSESSED VALUATION. Be it ordained by the City of Carlisle:

COUNTY PAGE

A Message from the Judge's Office

to you about our financial situation. This is a subject most people don't like to hear or talk about but I think it is one that our citizens need to know. Before everyone starts fussing at me for bringing this up I want you to let your magistrates or myself know your thoughts on this subject. We are here to listen to you and then act on what you say. These are my thoughts and I would like to know your thoughts also. I know that from talking to some of the other Judge Executives around the state we are better off than some counties but on the other hand we are also worse off than most.

The counties that are in fairly good shape are the ones that I like to call the forward thinking counties. These are the counties that have kept their income up too par with their expens-

This month I want to talk es. Like any good business we have to keep up with the changing times or we will go under.

> Bracken County is a county which is similar to ours and they are in great shape financially because they took the right steps over the years to prepare for this type of situation. They were paying a little more when times were good and now they don't have to worry about raising taxes. They are a county with about fifteen hundred more people than us but no industry.

Their real estate tax is 40.3 where ours is 13.1 cents. They have a taxing district for the ambulance, extension service, soil conservation, health and library where we only have health, library and fire protection. We budget 9700.00 for soil conservation, 54,000.00 for the extension office and the ambulance bud-per year. This all comes out of our general fund. Where they have the taxing districts for those three services they use what comes into their general fund to keep up with other expenses. Again this is just some things that I think everyone needs to know and I would like your input on how we are going to keep these services or do we let them go?

The only way that I can think of for the county government to have more income is to raise taxes or increase our tax base. As I have said many times over I would much rather increase our tax base. I personally think that raising taxes should be a last option but as a county I don't think we have planned ahead as we should have to increase our tax base.

get runs about 125,000.00 have a better tax base is to have more jobs but as we all know they are hard to come by. The competition for any kind of industry, large or small is really fierce. This is another area where I think there should have been better planning. Another way to improve the tax base is to make our county more attractive to visitors so they will want to move here. I think that when U.S. 68 is improved it will open that end of the county up to people from Fayette and Bourbon County because of the property prices in those counties and it is going to make Lexington more accessible by having a safer and shorter driving time. The question is, do we want to put in some ordinances to help clean up our county or not? We have a solid waste plan on file but it is not be-I know the best way to ing enforced because we really don't have anyone to do

Each year our population is getting older and more people are qualifying for the Homestead tax which lowers the tax base. We are becoming more of a bedroom community each year and it depends on how you look at it but that could be good or bad. The good part is we will increase our population but on the other hand I don't think we are ready for a big increase in population.

Anything we do to help our county comes at a price. The question is do we want to move forward or do set still and let the world pass us by? I would love it if we could remain as we are to some extent but I am afraid it doesn't work that way. When we try to get help with projects we want to do the first thing the people in Frankfort looks at is what we are doing to help ourselves. If we aren't doing what we need to do to keep up then their feeling is why should they do anything. It is like going to the bank to borrow money, if you don't have a strong financial report then it is hard for them to say yes

Again this is NOT what am advocating but I just want people to think about this and let us know your thoughts. Please contact your magistrates and let them know. It is really hard to sit here and see that the right moves have not been made over the years to put our county in better shape but everyone has their reasons and it will be interesting to see what the reasons are. Thanks for your thoughts.

time was amazing. I loved watching the joy in his face during the game. He still can't decide if he likes soccer or t-ball better, but thankfully he isn't an age where he has to choose. And unless things change, he won't ever have to. Out here in Nevada, Soccer is a fall sport, so it doesn't conflict with baseball. If he wants to do both when he gets older, he will be able to.

And Analise is loving ballet. Of course, the fact that she has an amazing teacher truly helps, but she is just so happy to go to her practice. She asks me every week, "when do I get to be on stage again, Mom?" I think I might have a little performer on my hands. While life has been crazy busy lately, I can definitely say it is more fun each and every day. I definitely think life would be boring beyond imagine without my kiddos keeping me on my toes. Until next week, make it a great one!
