Attorneys prepare for Terrell murder trial

Alleged killer Samuel Terrell, center, appeared calm and relaxed Friday while his attorneys Raymond Bogucki and Chris Kippley, left, discussed a point of contention with Commonwealth Attorney Doug Miller, right, just prior to the beginning of Terrell's pre-trial conference in Nicholas Circuit Court before Honorable Judge Jay Delaney.

As the trial for a Carlisle man who allegedly murdered his mother approaches, his attorneys staunchly maintain that their client didn't kill anyone.

Alleged murderer Sam Terrell, 19, appeared in Nicholas Circuit Court Oct. 12 with his attorneys Raymond Bogucki and Christopher Kippley.

appeared Terrell calm, just as he has in all of his previous court appearances, while Kippley and Bogucki spoke with Nicholas County Circuit Judge, honorable Jay Delaney.

Doug Assistant Com-Attorney Michael laws also stood before Judge Delaney and as the group formed a tight semi-circle before the bench Terrell's pending murder trial was discussed in detail with Judge Delaney advising the four attorneys and Terrell what would, and would not be, permissible during the scheduled three-day trial, which will begin Oct. 24 and is scheduled to conclude Oct. 26.

Judge Delaney told Nicholas Circuit Court Clerk Sandye Watkins to call 50 potential jurors for the trial with the hopes that 12 impartial jurors and at least one alternate could be found to serve.

Police say Terrell, murdered his mother Betty Jo Terrell in the early morning hours of May 13, 2011.

On that date, Carlisle emergency responders arrived at the home of Mrs. Terrell, which she shared with the accused, at Lester Apartments, at the intersection of South Locust and Main Street, in downtown Carlisle. Nicholas County Dispatch received a call from Kentucky State Police Dry Ridge Post informing them of call for help from the Terrell apartment at approximately 2:31 a.m.

The first officer to arrive on the scene was Carlisle Police Officer Guy Turner. He found Mrs. Terrell on the kitchen floor suffering from what appeared to be a gunshot wound to the head, according to Carlisle Chief of Police Darrell Layne. Officer Turner immediately called for an ambulance.

Terrell Mrs.transported to Nicholas County hospital where she was later pronounced dead.

Terrell was charged with murder, criminal mischief, 3rd degree, and terroristic threatening.

Members of a Nicholas County Grand Jury returned a murder in-dictment against Terrell on May 23.

He has been in jail since his arrest, currently on $250,000 cash bond.

Discussion Friday between Judge Delaney and the four attorneys focused on certain prior acts of Terrell and the consumption of alcohol by the victim and others on the day of the murder. "Everyone was under the influence," Bogucki said at one point. "Well, people may drink every weekend but there isn't a killing," Miller quickly countered.

"An argument started over beer," Bogucki said. "This isn't an attempt at character assassination (of the victim) but rather that we are trying to get to the truth. "Alcohol is relevant," Judge Delaney said during the discussion.

Judge Delaney ordered the four attorneys to approach the bench during the trial if they had any questions, particularly any questions regarding procedure and all agreed they would conduct themselves in that manner during the trial. Following the pretrial conference Kippley spoke briefly about his client.

"We don't know who killed Mrs. Terrell," Kippley said. "But we do know our client didn't.

An arsonist remains at large and local law enforcement officers are asking all Nicholas County citizens to help them stop this potentially deadly menace.

They are also offering substantial reward for information that will help stop the fire-starter.

Police are asking all citizens to keep a watchful eye out for their neighborhoods and communities and report any suspicious activity or individuals to Carlisle Police or Nicholas County Sheriff Jeff Sidles.

If citizens do witness suspicious activity involving any vehicles police say if would be helpful if the license plate number of the suspicious vehicle could be record-

A Nicholas County Ambulance was involved in an accident at approximately 9 a.m. Tuesday morning while transporting a patient to Bourbon County Community

According to Detective Jeff Asbury of the Bourbon County Sheriff's Department, the ambulance was traveling north on US 68 between Millersburg and Paris when it met a line of traffic. With the lights and siren of the ambulance going, the ambulance driver attempted to maneuver into the opposing lane and pass the line of traffic. The driver of a small truck in the back of that line of traffic was unaware of the ambulance and why cars in front of him had stopped and was therefore trying to pass the cars. This caused the truck to sideswipe the ambulance, which caused a chain reaction. The truck struck other vehicles in the line of traffic, caused by its impact with the ambulance.

At the scene of the accident, no serious injuries were reported for either driver or the patient in the ambulance. However, Bourbon County EMS arrived on the scene and transported the patient and a Nicholas County Paramedic who suffered some

The ambulance suffered some damage to the body. There was some visible damage done to the step below the passenger-side door and the box on the back of the vehicle. Additionally, the passenger side mirror was knocked off and two lug nuts were broken off of the tire, although the wheel remained attached to the ambulance. The ambulance was then transported back to Nicholas County by Williams Wrecker

"This is very unusual," said the driver of the ambulance, who requested not to be identified. "I have been on the Nicholas County EMS for 17 years and this is the first accident I've ever been in. It's very fortunate that no one was seriously injured.

I was in the parking lot of a fairly popular, region-when the shrieking voice of a loud youngster did more than caught my attention; it was so loud, so repetitive and so violent in volume and tone, that it couldn't be ignored.

The single sentence that was shrieked over and over was somewhat difficult to understand at first, but after hearing it two dozen times in a voice loud enough to peel paint, I understood it as "YOU'RE A STUPID " I' can't print the last

it as "a female dog." The shrieking went on and on, "YOU'RE A STU-PID....! YOU'RE A STUPID

The rude sentence, spoken so frequently and forcefully, that I'm sure it would have shamed a drunken sailor, demanded my attention: perhaps a lunatic had escaped from some insane asylum and was making his way through the middle of my local community (that's right, this occurred in daylight in normal business hours in the very heart of one of the larger communi-tion from where the piercing wails came from and guess what I saw, dear reader? I saw a young brat, maybe five years old, poking an elderly woman in the chest repeatedly with his extended index finger, all the while shrieking at the top of his lungs "YOU'RE A STUPID!

I froze, as if I had just entered The Twilight Zone.

I just stood their slackjawed staring at the pitiful sight; the elderly woman trying as best as she could to simultaneously be invisible and still herd this young Tasmanian-Devil-ofa-brat toward her truck.

He gave a good three shrieks and stiff-armed pokes with each reluctant went from being shocked to being embarrassed, which quickly gave way to shame for the woman and then simple disgust. "I sure hope you bust his little rear end!" I said in a

They both stood perfectly still and mean-mugged me to the point where I started feeling guilty before they both simply turned to one another and, yep, you guessed it, returned to what must have been a frequently-played loud version of their own little special game called "YOU'RE A STUPID!"

After an eternity the truck which was hauling the dynamic duo pulled out of the parking lot with reverb shrieks echoing down the roadway as they went.

I was the only one left in the parking lot. I felt like I had just witnessed some sort of social rape, which had victimized me as well as the elderly woman. The child's behavior has disturbed me even more than that of the victimized woman, judging by her reaction, or rather her decision not to react.

I am told that 'social services' working in conjunction with law enforcement agencies have sabotaged family discipline and some case workers for CFHS are causing more problems than they are solving. I can't say if there is any truth to that, but I see what fear the government and fear losing their children to agencies that have case workers who don't have children and have never even raised a child. Maybe the people who tell me these things are li-

I have no personal knowledge of the inner workings of such agencies, due to the very secret nature of them and with the courts surrounding all things related to children.

I've always thought secret agencies were anti-American but again, that's just a personal perspective. I have never had any personal or professional dealings with any social worker that I am aware of due to any family, personal or other issue, as I am definitely on the "outside looking in. But I continue to hear bad things and thus I have promised myself that if the Good Lord is willing, I will begin my own investigative work on these services in relation to how many children in the region are impacted and whatever else I

It is also my understanding that case workers and their supervisors earn their pay through tax revenue, so they work for us; it isn't the other way around. I do not admire the job they have before them, but there is no need for some of the secrecy.

Some baby-boomers such as myself; remain appalled at the total breakdown of discipline in youth today and we see where that road leads. And the "family model" is, well, a strange looking animal indeed these days. I am staunchly against child abuse, but I am very pro-child discipline. There is a difference.

Few things in this world are as destructive to a community as a spoiled brat who grows into adulthood with the same mind set that anything the child does is acceptable.

I don't know very much about the bully situation in the local schools, except to say that it does exist and I'd bet some of the bullying is done by children like Tasmanian Devil Junior who will grow up "never doing anything wrong" and protected by failed agencies and guardians.

It isn't wrong to let children know they aren't the ones in charge. It isn't wrong to discipline a child when they need it, either in private or in public.

Agricultural Commissioner James Comer Visits Nicholas & Robertson Counties

By Eric Tolson KYNewsGroup

eric@kynewsgroup.com Nicholas County and Robertson County were honored to get a visit from Kentucky's Agricultural Commissioner James Comer last Thursday. Members of local 4-H Clubs and FFA members were present to hear Mr. Comer speak to the community about the importance of agriculture.

James Comer began his term in office on January 3, 2012 and appreciates all the support he has gotten from the people of Kentucky. Although he has visited almost all of the counties in Kentucky in his nine months in office, this was his first ever official visit to Nicholas and Robertson Counties.

Comer, a fifth generation farmer, was raised on a farm and enjoyed the lessons that working in agriculture has taught him. He grew up participating in the 4-Ĥ Club, as well as the FFA, where he showed cattle.

This was Comer's first visit to Robertson and Nicholas Counties. Comer, having grown up in the small community of Monroe County, knows the importance of agriculture and wants to convey his message to youth all around Kentucky.

"Kentucky has a great agricultural industry, said Comer. "One of the top commodities in Kentucky is horse breeders. The state of Kentucky is home to some of the best horse breeders in the United States and the

"The one thing about agriculture is that it is one of the few industries that is very bipartisan," stated Comer. "Every issue has different beliefs from the Democrats and the Republicans. Agriculture is one of the few aspects of American life that either side can agree on. It's undoubtedly one of the most important industries, not only in Kentucky, but in the en-

Agriculture is how we get food and many of the other things we use in our everyday lives.

Comer also discussed the changes that the Kentucky Department of Agriculture has undergone since he has taken

"Since I have taken office, there are 43 fewer people working in the Department of Agriculture," said Comer. "We did an audit the first week I took office, something that I believe every department should go through from time to time. We took a 10% budget cut. The Department of Agriculture is the largest regulatory office in the state. We are curagement in every area and we have to make the department accountable for agricultural needs in the state of Kentucky.

Comer also educated those present on all of the aspects of our lives that the Department of Agriculture is responsible for.

"A lot of people don't realize all the things that the Department of Agriculture does," said Com-er. "We check the scales and scanners at grocery stores to make sure they are working properly. We also inspect eggs in grocery stores and make sure they are safe for customers to eat. We inspect amusement rides in the state to make sure they Comer is also passionate about the 4-H and FFA programs. He commended their mission of instilling a sense of community and leadership within the youth of the community.

"4-H and FFA helps create future leaders of small towns," said Comer. "When young people go away to college, they often move away from their small towns into bigger cities. We need to make sure our children

New Home heating Patterns May increase potential for Chimney fires and Carbon Monoxide poisoning

Director

With record-setting home heating prices anticipated this autumn and winter, efficiency is at the forefront this year. As many homeowners address their financial concerns by turning to solid fuel appliances, like wood or pellet stoves, the Chimney Safety Institute of America (CSIA) sends the reminder that the new heating patterns, including an increase in solid-fuel use, have the potential to increase the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning and chimney

According most recent statistics from the National Fire

(NFPA, chimneys and chimney connectors accounted for the largest share (36 percent) of home heating fire incidents in 2005, with "failure to clean" accounting for two-thirds of those fires.

Responsible operation of heating appliances calls for annual maintenance. Surprisingly few homeowners realize that the chimneys venting their furnaces, water heaters and stoves, as well as the firplace in the living room, need to be inspected by a qualified professional each year.

The most recent estimates available from the Consumer Product Safety Commission show an average of 25,700 residential structural fires related to fireplaces, chimneys and chimney connectors resulting in 30 deaths and $627 million in property losses annually.

In addition to encouraging that chimneys and vents be inspected maintained as needed to reduce the risk of fires and carbon monoxide poisoning due to creosote buildup or obstructions in the chimney, the CSIA also recommends the following winter heating safety

Letter to the Editor

The senior citizens sure had a wonderful trip this past Friday, October 12, to Renfro Valley. A total of twenty-two enjoyed a night of music, entertainment. The fellowship we shared was priceless and left us with many wonderful memories! Several has expressed their desire to go again. I want to thank the staff of the Nicholas County Senior Citizens Center for their patience and loving care for our seniors. They are so kind and do an awesome job. So, come join us at the center, no telling what we'll do next. I also want to thank God for His protection as we traveled there and back.

Thank You

I want to thank everyone who prayed for me during my recent back surgery. I believe in the POWER OF PRAY. Thanks got the cards, foods, and flowers that was sent. I appreciate you thinking of me and your kindness. There is nothing like living in a small community like CARLISLE.

East Union Church Yard Sale

The East Union Christian Church in Nicholas County held a community yard sale on Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. The yard sale, rather than for profit, was held instead to assist members of the community to otherwise couldn't afford things for their family. Those who attended received a large bag of items of their selection, at the cost of a mere small donation. Items in the sale were donated by members of the church, factories and members of the community who felt that their unused items could go to benefit others. Due to the large volume of items that could not fit in the church or on the surrounding yard and the great turnout from the community, members of the church were discussing the possibility of holding the yard sale the following week.

The members of the Nicholas County Bluejacket Marching Band showed their mettle last weekend in regional Class A competition at North Laurel High School in London and marched their way into this weekend's state semifinals and championship event in Lexington. Nicholas County, under the direction of Debbie Hale, and the leadership of Field Commander Ashley Judd, will march on to the field at Lafayette High School Saturday morning at 11:15 for the semifinal performance and, hopefully, a spot among the 16 finalists Saturday night at the University of Kentucky's Commonwealth Stadium, beginning at 6:00. Carlisle City The Council passed a resolution Monday night, at its regular monthly meeting, to take legal action seeking clarification of the issue over placement newspaper of legal notices to the citizens of the city. The city plans to file a suit. naming both the Flemingsburg Gazette, which claims now to be the "legal" newspaper for Nicholas County following the demise of the former Carlisle Mercury, and The Nicholas Countian, which now owns the name 'The Carlisle Mercury.'

The bluejackets put their own exclamation mark on the football field on Homecoming Night 2002 at Nicholas County High School last Friday night. The 'Jackets defeated visiting Fairview 30-8, holding the team ranked fourth in the state in rushing yardage before facing Nicholas County to a total of 119 yard on the ground, with 30 of those yards coming on the final play of the game.

No layoffs at Jockey are planned. Word that 70 to 80 Carlisle Jockey employees would be laid off due to the construction of a plant in Honduras is completely wrong. Jockey Plant Manager Warren Skiles said Monday afternoon, "We hear all kinds of things here, too. I don't know where these things come from. We have one item being reduced but they're not losing their job. I'm giving them a choice of other things to do. No one's leaving or asked to go elsewhere. They say in Carlisle. About 90 people gathered at the home of Charles and Shelby Doyle on Saturday night for the annual supper and hay ride. The big shop building is filled with tables chairs and food. Lights are put up in the area. A large bon fire. This started around 30 years ago and has extended to friends and neighbors besides family. A wonderful time o f fellowship and the children (as well as the adults) look forward to it.

of a rich young man that has been a devote, practic-

Jesus with hope in finding the path to eternal life. Je-by asking him, "why call me good, no one is good ex-

he thought he was well on his way to the kingdom of God. The man was so distressed he went away sad and we don't know what he eventually does but he surely had a difficult decision to make. We all have that decision to make, we call it stewardship. This encounter with the rich man left Jesus upset also,

he at first is excited to see someone come forward to seek God and follow him

as the son of God. When it is obvious Jesus' request

has left the man deflated,

Jesus is feeling let down too. Jesus sadly says to his disciples, "How hard is it for the rich to enter the kingdom of God!" When the disciples in amazement at these words did not answer

Jesus again, with passion, asks firmly, "CHILDREN, than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.

Notice that Jesus did not say it was impossible, just difficult. In fact when the disciples ask, "who then can be saved?", Jesus says the point of this event,

"With man this is impossible, but with God all things are possible!" ALL things are possible. At his point

Jesus assures us that those that give of themselves generously to the Gospel of Jesus, spreading that good news to all through their giving of treasure, time and talent will have eternal life in the kingdom of God.

This scripture ends with another pillar statement of Christianity, "the first shall be last, and the last shall be first." To be first in Jesus' mind we have to give all we have for God. I can personally give you examples of many families and individuals that give a major portion of their wealth and income to the church

to do God's work, others

give their time to do chores

in the church whether it be cleaning, cooking, singing in choir, etc. And still others that give their talents of music, teaching, serving as deacons and elders.

Most of these people give all three. And just as Jesus promised they are taken care of. These people give a lot, and in turn have a lot.

They give their talent or skill and that talent or skill becomes enhanced. They give themselves and God gives them LIFE. You can give every cent you have will see that you can pay you receive. But that can-

BREAD OF LIFE

As the ruler of the synagogue sought Jesus, he worshipped him. How they gatharound him! How everybody listened to what he had to say! Jesus spoke not as a scribe, but with authority and power, his words decked with divine glory. A young man who preaching a marketplace was confronted by some atheists. "There have been five Christs," they said. "Tell us which one it is that you preach." He answered, "The Christ who rose from the dead." There is only one who lives, we live also. Glory to God! We are risen with him, are living with him, and will reign with him.

This ruler, as he drew near the crowd, went up to Jesus and said, "My little daughter lieth the point of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be healed" (Mark 5:23). "I will come," Jesus said. What a beautiful assurance, but as they were coming along the road, a woman met them who had been suffering an issue of blood twelve years. When this trouble began, she sought many physicians. Now she had no more money because the physicians had taken it all and left her worse than they found her.

who could heal her without money, for was bankrupt and helpless. Jesus comes to people who withered, eased, lame, crippled in all kinds of ways. And when he comes he proclaims liberty to the captive, opening of eyes to the blind, and the opening of ears to the deaf, "Only believe." When everything seems as though it will fail and is practically hopeless, the Word of God comes to us, "Only believe."

When Jesus came to the ruler's house he found a lot of people weeping and wailing. He said, "Why make ye this ado and weep? The damsel is not dead, but sleepeth" (Mark 5:39). There is a wonderful word that God wants you to hear. Jesus said, "I am the resurrection. and the life" (John 11:25a). The believer may fall asleep, but the believer doesn't die. Oh, that people understand the deep things God, it would change the whole situation. It makes you look out with a glorious hope to the day when the

they could turn from wailing to laughing. Jesus took the father and the mother of the maid and, going into the room where she was, took her hand and said, "Damsel, I say unto thee, arise" (vs41). And the child sat up. Praise the Lord! And Jesus said, "Give her something to eat."

Oh, what a remarkable Lord Jesus! I want to impress upon you the importance of realizing that he is in our midst. No person need be without the knowledge that they are not only saved but that God can live in these human bodies. You are begotten unto a lively hope that moment you be-

The Neal Building on Main Street hosted their monthly Brown Bag Forum for the community last Friday. This time, Carlisle was privileged to meet the individuals who will be running for the six open seats on the Carlisle City Council.

Although six of the ten candidates were unable to attend for various reasons, there was no lack of discussion on the topic at hand.

The first candidate to speak before the audience was Larry Jolly. A Carlisle and Nicholas County native, Larry Jolly is married to Sissy Jolly and is the proud father of two children and two step children. Jolly graduated in 1967 and graduated from Morehead State University in 1971. Jolly has extensive experience in business, having been an Assistant Manage at a Kentucky Textile plant in Paris and a property manager of several local apartment buildings. Jolly has also served two terms on the city council previously. If elected to the City Council, Jolly says that his primary concern will be to help the city and make it the wonderful town that it deserves to be. Betty Fave was the next candidate to speak. Faye was born on Lower Jackstown and graduated from Carlisle High School in 1946. She worked at the Jockey plant in Nicholas County for 28 years and has worked in several grocery stores in Carlisle, including Shopwise, Foodtown and IGA. Faye's primary focus is to get better jobs to come to Nicholas County, stating that it is harder for that he will do whatever it take to work together as city and county to accomplish our goals.

Alice Tap Hughes, the final candidate to speak, is married to James Hughes and is a proud grandmother mother, and wife.

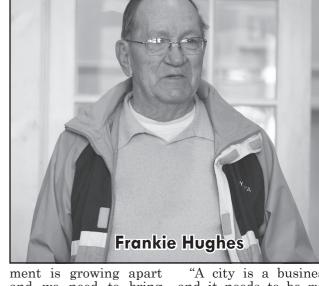

"Although I once lived in Robertson County for 14 years," said Hughes. "I have always loved Carlisle. I have seen this city prosper and falter. Carlisle is my home."

Hughes's goals Carlisle include seeing the buildings in the city being filled, more police involvement with drug kids off of the street. Hughes sites festivals and community events as major step up in keeping children in Carlisle out of trouble. The candidates were then asked to address any concerns or questions and to elaborate on their platforms.

"One thing this town needs is more jobs," said Larry Jolly. "We also need to enforce more police protection and the council has to be able to work with the mayor closely. I know the council has limited abilities, but we do still need to work together as often as possible. The city council needs to know what people want from them and the people need to know what's going on. The county and city govern-and we need to bring them back together. The two can't work as separate entities. We need to work as a bigger family.'

"When I served as mayor, everyone worked together," said Frankie Hughes. "If the city wanted to hire someone, we had to conduct an interview before we would hire them. I was also the county Fire Chief and we had a great group of people working with us. I believe we need to bring that back to the county.

"I would really like to see a budget so we could possibly reallocate money within the city," said Alice Hughes. "There are too many houses in Carlisle due to people not being able to afford to live there. If there was any way we could keep from raising taxes, we should. It's very important to see where tax payer money is going.

"Another concern of mine is loitering in the continued Miss Hughes. "People who don't work are sitting on the street and blocking traffic flow. Curfews should be enforced, especially for young people.' Gene Kelley, a member of the audience and former mayor of Carlisle, stood up during the proceedings and expressed his concerns about the city.

"A city is a business and it needs to be run like one," said Kelley. "The biggest problem we suffer as a city is the long-term debt we currently have. Our current debt as a city is between three and five million dollars. This is absurd. The council has a lot of authority that they don't exert. All major purchases of the county need to be made based on bids. Buying vehicles and other such items without bids is ridiculous and a very bad idea." Kelley also addressed the idea of the council working together as a whole.

"The council needs to speak up and not sit back and do nothing," stated Kelley. "The city council can get anything done if they want to. They need to reduce spending by controlling actions. Seven heads are better than one. It's not a problem to get a group of people together if you have a problem. The county owns all of the utilities. Every person running for these positions needs to visit these facilities and know the usage. It is important to know all of these things so you can make a wise decision. I hope the voters have taken into consideration the people who are here to address the issues.'

When Nicholas County voters step into the voting booth on Tuesday, Nov. 6, they are going to see not one, but two races for U. S. Representative in Congress.

Martha Moss, Nicholas County Clerk, wanted to clear up any confusion for voters by explaining the situation.

A special election is set for the remaining term of 4th District Rep. Geoff Davis.

Davis said in December 2011 that he would be retiring after his current term in office. On July 31he announced his resignation from office, citing health issues.

Gov. Steve Beshear announced in August that a special election to fill Davis' would vacancy scheduled for Nov. 6, the same day as the general election.

Until this year, the Congressional District had included most northern Kentucky counties, including Nicholas, Fleming, Robertson, Harrison, and part of Bath County.

tricting this year based on the 2010 Census, population shifts meant the expansion of the neighboring 6th Congressional District and the shrinking of the ballot for the 4th Disof Williamstown, Rependent David Lewis of Batavia, Ohio.

The newly redrawn effect in January and Nicho-2013,las County is now included with the 6th District, along with Bath, Fleming, Menifee and Wolfe counties and parts of Harrison County and northern Scott County. Democratic Rep. Ben Chandler is being challenged by Republican candidate Andy Barr of Lexington. Voters are being asked to vote in the special election to fill out the term of Rep. Davis while Nicholas County remains in the 4th District, and they are also voting for 6th District Representative when they join that district in 2013.

If you have any questions about the election and voting, the Nicholas County Clerk's office at 289-3730.

The Nicholas County and Carlisle Fire Departments were dispatched to Nicholas County Hospital at 10:10 a.m. on Friday morning to respond to a report of smoke emitting from the roof of the building. According to Carlisle City Fire Chief Jim Biddle, a wall outlet within the building had overheated and started smoking. The situation was rectified quickly, avoiding a much more serious situation.

Repairs and other financial issues were discussed at the regular meeting of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court last Tuesday evening. The first issue discussed at the meeting was the matter of filling the vacancy on the Nicholas County Extension District Board. Of the two individuals who have submitted their names, Pat McCarty and James Perkins, the court thoroughly considered both candidates for the position. A motion was made by Jeff Randolph to appoint Perkins to the Board, citing his military service, as well as his involvement with local youth programs, as sufficient experience to serving the board efficiently. A second to the motion was made by Mike Webb.

The motion passed. Next, the court reported on the bill for the repair and replacement of the roof of Nicholas County Hospital. Judge Executive Kenny Lyons said that the current roof has lasted ten years past its expectancy. Due to this, it was decided that the roof was in dire need of repair. Lyons also said that the current roof would have to be removed and the new one put back on within a week. Since the company that will be making the repairs has worked on many hospitals in Lexington, includ-stated that they have a lot of faith in their work. A motion was made by Jeff Randolph to allow Judge Lyons to pursue the matter further. A second to the motion was made by Jimmy Wells. The motion passed.

County-wide clean-up was also mentioned within the meeting. It was mentioned by Judge Lyons that a possible date for this could be October 25, 26 and 27, starting at 8 a.m. on each day. Lyons also mentioned that, while tires would be accepted at the county landfill, they cannot be foam or fuel-filled tires or industrial tires. A motion was made by Jimmy Wells to accept the dates for the clean-up. A second to the motion was made by Mike Webb. The motion passed.

Also, a matter of the location of voting booths within the city and county was mentioned. Judge Lyons said that the location of several voting booths within Carlisle and Nicholas County were inconvenient, citing several citizens not being able to locate sufficient parking and having to cross busy streets in order to reach them. A suggestion was made to change the locations of the voting booths from their current locations and move all of them to the elementary school. Unfortunately, a task of this magnitude would require a great deal of time and could not be done in time for this year's election, but could possibly

The Nicholas County Fiscal Court met last Tuesday to discuss the repair and replacement projects within the county. There was considerable deliberation regarding some projects, including the blacktopping of various area sin Nicholas County.

It was decided to table this matter for discussion on another date.

The court also made a decision on the matter of locating the local Little League basketball team to a different facility for practice. It was decided to allow the teams to use the old National Guard Armory for practices when other facilities would not be available. A suggestion was also made for the floors to the facility to be refinished once practices of the teams have slowed down. A motion was made to approve the refinishing of the floors by Steve Hamilton. A second to that motion was made by Mike Webb. The motion was passed.

There was also an issue regarding the signing of a resolution which would allow various blacktopping projects within the county. According to the resolution, $165,000 will be given to the county to allow for the parking lot at Lake Carnico to be blacktopped. Also, according to the resolution, if the court accepts the money, the lot at Hildred School will have to be blacktopped as well. Due to an issue regarding the wording of the resolution, a motion was made by Steve Hamilton to table the matter until the next fiscal court meeting on October 26, when more information can be found. A second to the motion was made by Darvin Mitchell. The motion was passed. Also, Jeff Randolph presented the court with the newly redesigned signs for the Don Toy Memorial Soccer Field and the Cleary Fightmaster Memorial Youth Foot-ball Field. Judge Lyons stated that the signs look very well-made and will be a great addition to the

A motion was made by Mike Webb to adjourn the meeting. A second to that motion was made by Jimmy Wells. The motion passed and the meeting was adjourned.

How is horseback riding exercise? I asked, trying change the subject. Pete answered as we walked to the stable. OIt's a great cardiovascular activity. You can burn calories and develop arm and leg muscles. You'll find new muscles too. Riding improves balance, posture and clears You'll the mind. each ride your own horse, Pete told us as he pulled each horse from its stall. Rule one, don't stand behind the horse, or there's a good chance you'll be kicked. Rule two, stay calm and quiet. Movement and noise can spook the horse and make him jump, buck or run. And you must wear a helmet. Why a helmet? I asked, confused because we weren't riding a motorcycle. To keep you safe in case you fall off, though I don't anticipate that happening, Pete said. I was learning we always had to have safety equipment a leash for walking, a harness for ziplining, a helmet for horseback riding. Once Pete had each horse groomed, sadyou how to mount heard a loud thump, plained. Concentrating, I did exactly like Pete said. I almost made it on my horse, Chester, but couldn't get my leg over. I tried again and almost made it. Then I hit the ground again. I went up and down so much I looked like a yo-yo. Finally, I was sitting on top of Chester. Good job, Woody, everyone said, cheering, the same as we did for Chloe. As we rode along the Red River in the heart of the Daniel Boone National Forest, Pete pointed out many things. When Boone was searching for a route from Virginia to Kentucky, he made several explorations. The land he discovered is now known as the Daniel Boone National Forest. Today many of the creeks, streams and landmarks still have the names given to them by Boone. Pete pointed to flowers I'd never hear of like yellow ladyslipper and Jacob's ladder. While everyone looked at the flowers, I spotted an animal with large antlers. Not wanting to spook any of the horses, I held Chester's reins with my left paw and grabbed the camera in my saddlebag with my right paw. A Message from the Judges Office Winter is in the air and I am sure you have noticed it already. As usual I am not ready for it. The seasons have really changed in my lifetime which has been several years. Here are just a few facts from the National Weather Service for snowfall records for our area. Most snowfall in a season; 1916-1917; 53.0 inches. Least snowfall in a season; 1931-1932; 2.1". Most snowfall in a day; 1943; 13.4". Most snowfall in a month; January 1978; 21.9". The earliest snow fall was on Oct 26, 1952. The latest was on May 24 1925. Just a little food for thought. I want to let you know about the road projects that are planned for us and I hope they come through. The intersection of 36 &32 design work is supposed to be bid this fall. I am anxious to see what they can do there. They told me that the biggest problem in planning for this job is going to be the creek. The railroad bridge on 32 at Myers Station is in the planning stages. They still need to add a little more money for purchase of right of way. This is going to be a big project with the widening and realignment of the bridge. I think they told us at the last transportation meeting that the bids for design work on the replacement of the box culvert on East Union Rd. will be let next spring. This is south of Dennis McDonald's farm. It is also going to be a realignment to straighten out and widen that curve. The rt. 68 project is headed our way with plans to start buying right of way after July One, 2013. We have been told that the money for this project has already been promised. I believe that this project is going to bring good things in the future for our county. I hope it will bring some much needed growth to us.

The agreement for the money we get through the state that we can use on county roads has been sent in and we are waiting on its return. After that we have to advertise for bids for two weeks before we can proceed with any of these projects. As you can see it takes time to get anything done through the government but the reason for this is to make sure the taxpayers money is being used as it was meant to be. After being in business for myself and making all of the decisions then going ahead with those decisions to get the jobs done has been a big adjustment. The Rotary Club has had another very good Saturday in Carlisle. I want to thank everyone who worked to put this together and the vendors who had some great booths. It is really good to see people come together for a day of enjoyment. The good Lord certainly did his part by providing us with another beautiful day.

Notice to Voters; I hope everyone understands that we will be voting in two congressional races this year. When Geoff Davis retired this year that left the 4th district which we are in until Jan. 1st 2013 without a Congressman. There was suppose to be a special election held to replace Congressman Davis but with the general election so close and to save the 4th district the cost of another election, it was decided to combine the special election with the general election. This puts us in a unique position of having to vote for the 4th district congressman to fill that position plus at the same time we will vote for the congressman for the 6th district. The 4th district candidates are Democrat Adkins and Republican Massey. The winner of that contest will be our congressman until the first of the year. The other race is between Democrat Ben Chandler and Republican Andy Barr. The winner of this race will be our congressman for the next term. I know this sounds confusing but hope it doesn't discourage anyone from voting. Please get out and vote for the candidate of your choice.

Don't forget to check out our new website at Nicholas County Ky. If you would like to see any changes or additions please let me or Carlton Jones know.

Until next month may God Bless each of you.

The Legend of Octavia Hatcher

By Eric Tolson KYNewsGroup

Scary ghost stories are a staple this time of year. If you watch television, various television networks saturate the airwaves constantly with scary movies and Halloween specials.

It's not surprising that some networks choose to run several hour-long specials about haunted houses and spooky goings on throughout the nation and even the world. At a glance, this all seems like a publicity stunt meant to gather tourists and ghost enthusiasts to visit. While some people are skeptic on the very idea of supernatural and otherworldly beings, there's no denying that, while farfetched, these stories do carry a very eerie atmosphere.

And would you believe that some of these "haunted places" are actually located in our home state of Kentucky?

There is rumored to be a spirit that looms over nearby Pikeville, Kentucky. The tale of this spirit has become such a part of the history Pike County that several local Pikeville College students can recall different versions of how this spirit died and how she makes her spiritual presence abundant in a local cemetery. It's rumored that the spirit of Octavia Hatcher still haunts the graveyard and, since her death in 1891, she has never "rested in peace."

Pikeville's most prominent family was likely that of the Hatcher family, which was founded in the area by James Hatcher, a wealthy land owner and prominent businessman in the Pikeville Region.

In 1889, James married a young woman named Octavia Smith at the age of 30. The Hatchers sired a son named Jacob. The couple's happiness was short-lived, however.

Jacob was born in January of 1891 and only lived a few days before passing away. It is likely the early death of her son that caused Octavia to suffer from severe depression and illness that would eventually lead to her death.

Soon after the death of her son, Octavia took to her bed and became quite ill. The illness soon took a turn for the worse when, in April of the same year, she succumbed to a coma. Octavia soon died on Mav Doctors were baffled as to the cause of her illness. Octavia was buried on the Hatcher family plot. James was grief-stricken and has suffered both the death of his young wife and his son. Little did he know, his grief was far from over.

Soon after the death of Octavia, several other people began suffering from the same symptoms as Octavia. The illness was a sort of sleeping sickness, which was brought on by the bite of a certain fly. The sickness would allow a person to exhibit death-like symptoms for several days.

Octavia's family began panicking that Octavia may have been buried alive, an emergency exhumation was conducted and Octavia's casket was opened. Their discovery horrified them further.

They found the young woman in an extremely terrifying state. Evidently, her coffin had not been airtight and Octavia had managed to live for a few days, trapped beneath the ground. Her nails were found bloody and worn and the lining of the casket had been torn and shredded, leading them to believe that she had tried desperately to dig her way out. Her face had been contorted into an expression of sheer terror, scratched by her own hand. She must have awakened from her sleep to find herself trapped within the casket and, unable to escape, succumbed to a terrifying death.

James was heartbroken. He buried Octavia properly and had an elaborate grave marker made into her likeness erected atop it. As with many legends, the story of Octavia Hatcher's final moments have been twisted and changed until much of the truth was lost. To this day, local teenagers and college students have gathered around the monument on Halloween night to drink and retell the story. It was during this period, that the baby that once accompanied the statue has been broken from the statues arms, taking the arm with it. Pranksters even went through the monument to disturb it.

The legend states that Octavia's spirit was angry at the people of Pikeville for allowing her to be buried alive. Because of this. she would literally turn her back on the city on the anniversary of her death. On the night of the anniversary of her death, the grave marker would turn its pedestal and face the opposite direction. The story was accepted as truth for several years, until it was finally revealed that nocturnal movements of the statue were work of pranking college students.

Even after the story has been debunked, rumors of the cemetery being haunted still spread. Those who live on the hillside and visitors of the gravesite, often speak of hearing strange voices in the dark. Some even see a vapor-like apparition.

In the mid-1990's, the Hatcher family placed a stone in the cemetery, containing accurate information about Octavia's death. They also placed the statue on a new marble base and encased it with a fence, in hope to keep out van-

While, alterations to the gravesite have managed to keep out unwanted visitors, they have done nothing to quell stories of the ghosts and spirits surrounding it. Several people, including those who live nearby, report strange crying sounds coming from the memorial. Witnesses also claim to feel manifestations of depression and anxiety when visiting, and are theorized as experiencing the young woman's final moments. Could the stories be true? Could a young woman, cut down early in her life be seeking rest in the afterlife? Could the noises be Octavia moaning for loss of her life, cut far too short? Could this all be just a mere fabrication of reality? That, my friends, is for the reader to decide.

A State of Emergency was declared at the recent special called meeting of the Nicholas County Fire Board. The State of Emergency was declared in order for the Nicholas County Fire Department to allow the purchase of a new fire truck for the department.

It was discussed that the fire department has decided on a fire truck that will meet their needs to serve Nicholas County. The truck is a 2004 GM 8500 tanker truck that will be able to carry up to 3,000 gallons of water. The price of the truck will be $100,000 and is currently located in Mississippi.

"We want to go take a look at it first," said Doug McCord, Chairman of the Fire Board. "If we see it and it's what we need, we'll likely purchase it. We don't want to spend that amount of money without inspecting it and deciding as a group that it's a truck we need and

Also discussed at the meeting, the fire board discussed last week's accident on Lake Road. Since the fire truck was overturned, and therefore damaged, there are repairs that will have to be made to the truck.

Brooks Morris, from Morris Insurance Inc. in Paris, was present at the meeting to discuss the matter of repairing the vehicle with members of the fire board. Morris spoke with members of the board about the current functionality of the truck, as well as the extent of damage done to the truck in the accident.

"The good news is, the truck doesn't look totaled," stated Morris. "I have looked at it and the cab of the truck may have to be replaced, as well as the engine. One of the main concerns, though, is whether or not the frame of the truck is bent or damaged. We'll have to do further inspections to determine if it is or not."

There was some concern from the board as to how long the repairs will take, due to the upcoming season in which more house fires occur. Jay Moreford expressed his concern over this, stating:

"Speaking on behalf of the county, we want this truck fixed and we want it fixed as fast as possible.

"This is a top priority claim," said Morris. "There is a repair shop that can make these repairs in Summit, Kentucky. This truck could take up to a month to service all of the repairs that it needs." Due to the time it would take to make the repairs to the fire truck, a concern was addressed as to how the fire department could account for the lost truck. In terms of fires and automobile accidents, the fire departto adjourn the meeting. A second to the motion was made by Tracy Brown. The motion was passed and the meeting was adjourned.
